Paris Hopes For New Ruhr Pact With Her Allies

French Reply To London Reparations Note Received Tuesday

POINCARE IS CONFIDENT

France Unyielding On Main Features—Expect Baldwin Will Not Agree

By Associated Press

Paris—The French government's reply to the recent note of Marquis Curzon, the British foreign secretary, on the reparations situation, was handed to the British embassy at 9 o'clock.

The feeling in French official circles is that this note, indited by Premier Poincare will prevent a rupture of the entente. Considerable confidence is expressed that the British cabinet will find it conciliatory and see in it a basis for continued discussion of the Ruhr occupation and the reparation problem generally.

POINCARE UNYIELDING

There is no concealment of the fact that the reply is largely controversial, that Premier Poincare is unyielding on the outstanding features of the situation, and that it is not expected Premier Baldwin will find the reply conclusive.

It is considered almost certain, however that he will regard it as encouraging and will withhold any plans for separate action toward Germany until the points in dispute are further elucidated.

There is said to be a tendency to look more favorably on a new reparation conference among the allies, and it is thought to be certain that Premier Poincare will see Prime Minister Baldwin when the latter returns from his vacation stay at Aix les Bains

The French reply takes up fifty pages of a yellow book which will be issued Wednesday, together with a summary in both English and French.

GEORGIA FLOGGERS HIRED, POLICE SAY

Authorities Seek Identity Of Instigators Of Whipping Crimes

Macon, Ga.—Following the assertion by police and county officials that the three Hudson brothers, who were arrested Sunday night while in the act of flogging a negro being paid by an organization to do the floggings, officials Tuesday turned their efforts to learning the identity of those alleged to have financed the Hudsons, and expressed confidence that they soon would be able to solve the mystery surrounding the numerous floggings which for the past several months have terrorized Macon.

The three Hudsons were captured after a thrilling chase Sunday night and are now lodged in the county jail, each in a separate cell. A large seven passenger touring car, found near the scene of the flogging is said to have been used by the Hudsons in their operations.

ARREST MAN HERE ON CHARGE OF MURDER

Theodore Lauer, employed in a meatmarket here, was arrested Tuesday morning by Chief of Police George T. Prim at the request of the sheriff of Sheboygan-co who says Lauer is wanted for murder. No definite information concerning the charge was available until the arrival of the sheriff, late in the day.

PRESIDENT "REASONABLE" IN PARDONING WAR CULPRITS

Washington — President Coolidge told White House visitors Tuesday that he had decided to adopt a "reasonable" attitude in the matter of clemency for war law violators, but that he recognized that some of those still imprisoned were only receiving just punishment for the crimes of which they were convicted.

U. S. FLAGSHIP RUNS AGROUND IN DENSE FOG

Seattle—The cruiser Seattle, flagship of the United States battleship fleet went ashore on Marrowstone point, Puget sound, in a dense fog early Tuesday, according to a radio message received here. The cruiser was not believed to be in any danger and it was expected she would be floated at high tide Tuesday.

RICE LAKE MAN APPOINTED CONSUL GENERAL TO JAPAN

Rice Lake—Stuart Fuller, a former Barron-co boy, son of George Fuller, who built the "blueberry" line, now a part of the Soo line system, has been appointed consul general to Yokohama, Japan, succeeding the late George H. Scidmore of Madison, former dean of consuls general.

Five Masked Bandits Rob Express Car

By Associated Press

Oklahoma City, Okla.—Five masked men looted the mail and express cars of Missouri, Kansas, and Texas passenger train No. 123 near Okesa, Okla., shortly after midnight Monday night, and escaped with about twenty registered packages after overpowering the members of the train crew.

No estimate of the value of the loot was available Tuesday.

PRELATE SAYS FARMERS MUST SEEK OWN HELP

Plant Less Grain And Rely On Mixed Farming Is Advice Of Western Bishop

By Associated Press

Milwaukee—That the farm problem will have to be solved by the farmers themselves, was the feature of an address on the farm situation delivered by the Right Reverend Vincent Wehrle, Bishop of Bismarck, N. D., at the meeting of the German Catholic Central society Monday night.

Giving examples from his experience as a priest in North Dakota for more than thirty-five years, Bishop Wehrle scored speculation in the wheat market.

Indirectly refuting the statement of non-partisan leaders that the state should operate all public utilities, including grain elevators and mills, Bishop Wehrle said that it is not the function of the state to control industry.

"The farmers themselves must learn to plant less grain and to rely more upon mixed farming," he continued. "If they can form cooperative societies with conscientious leaders they may improve their lot. The only danger is that they may get corrupt leaders who will make conditions worse instead of better."

Allentown, Pa., was awarded next year's convention.

PERSHING LAUDS MINNESOTA GUARD

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—The St. Paul plan, sponsored by 100 business men of that city for the upbuilding of the Minnesota National Guard was strongly commended Tuesday by General Pershing in a letter to John Seeger, president of the St. Paul association, made public by the war department. The businessmens' pledge to give preference to employes who are members of the national guard and pay them during absence from work, either for summer training or during service in an emergency, General Pershing said, "places St. Paul squarely behind the finest ideals of our republic."

COOLIDGE PARDONS VET IN LEAVENWORTH PRISON

By Associated Press

Leavenworth, Kas.—Frank Moranz, ex-service man of Texas, said by officials to be one of the first prisoners pardoned by President Coolidge, was released from the federal penitentiary Monday, it became known Tuesday. Moranz had been confined in the tuberculosis ward of the prison hospital and when released was unable to leave town. He was taken to a local hospital. He was serving two years for stealing an automobile.

FEDERAL SLEUTHS RAID DEN OF COUNTERFEITERS

New York—Federal secret service agents Tuesday raided the quarters of the "Consolidated Importing and Exporting Co." on Lexington-ave and arrested five men and a woman on charges of counterfeiting revenue stamps, whisky labels, and physician's liquor prescription blanks.

An extensive mailing list was found which bore evidence of large shipments of the bogus stamps, labels and prescriptions to many points in the United States and Canada.

RAILROAD MUST PAY PART OF STATE HIGHWAY COSTS

Madison—The Wisconsin Railroad commission has ordered the Green Bay and Western Railroad Company to pay to the state treasurer $1,200 as its portion of the cost of relocating of the state trunk highway between Seymour and Black Creek in Outagamie-co.

Colleen Moore, one of the screen's most popular actresses, and John McCormick have been married. This closeup wasn't taken for the usual ending of a film, but for the beginning of a long and happy drama of real life.

U.S. Must Decide On Validity Of Promise Of President Obregon

Mexican Government Hesitates To Sign Treaty To Respect American Rights Owing To Public Sentiment

BY DAVID LAWRENCEE

Copyright, 1923 by the Post Pub. Co.

Washington — The negotiations between Mexico and the United States have reached the point where President Coolidge and Secretary Hughes must make up their minds whether a promise by President Obregon is of sufficient validity to bind subsequent administrations below the Rio Grande to respect American rights and property.

Months of conference have not gotten beyond that essential. Originally the American government started out to get from Mexico something of a treaty or protocol nature which would oblige successors of President Obregon to guarantee Americans the same legal treatment as is being promised now when it is to the interest of Mexico to win formal recognition of its government by the United States government. The Mexican authorities balked at the idea of any treaty and insisted that they could not placate their own public opinion if recognition was to be brought at the price of a treaty. They said treaties could be negotiated later after recognition had come. The American government took the position that the making of the treaty itself was automatically a process of recognition. A deadlock ensued after which Charles B. Warren and John Barton Payne were sent to Mexico City by Mr. Harding in an effort to adjust the matter in person.

SATISFACTORY BASIS

Messrs. Warren and Payne are here with a record of their conversations with the Mexican commissioners. In substance they have elicited statements from the Mexicans which, if the American government chooses to look at them that way, can be regarded as a satisfactory basis for recognition. The Wilson administration tried to get something more substantial than that from the Mexicans but didn't succeed, and finally decided to recognize the Carranza regime. Now, while the American commissioners have brought back explicit understandings, these are not in treaty form and they do not bing any future Mexican administration except as good will and international comity require nations to keep their governmental policies consistent. If the Obregen administration were overthrown tomorrow, the agreements it had made could be discarded as scraps of paper on the favorite grounds that the agreements were not in conformity with the Mexican constitution, whose ambiguous articles are the center of the present controversy anyhow.

CHOICE OF TWO EVILS

But the American government is faced with the necessity of viewing a bird in the hand as worth two in the bush. If the Obregon administration did furnish a solemn treaty covering the points of interest to the United States, and a revolution came next week, the disturbed state of affairs would preclude any adherence to the phrasology of a treaty, for military necessity has, in Mexico at least, swept aside even more vital contracts than were contained in treaties. It is therefore the choice of the Coolidge administration to accept the Obregon promises on their face value and by extending recognition, strengthen the Obregon regime and the cause of peace of the Rio Grande, or to refuse recognition and bring about a state of affairs which many produce distu-

British Liner Goes On Rocks In Phillipines

By Associated Press

Manila—The eastern, oriental liner Changsha, British, carrying passengers and freight from Australia to Manila has gone on the rocks at Tigbank near the Tawawi islands of the Philippines, according to radio advices received here. The ship's condition is not known but is not believed to be dangerous. A salvage vessel was sent to her aid Tuesday morning.

BADGER MENTORS DISCUSS METHODS

Madison Convention Of Teachers Emphasizes Work Of Supervising Teachers

By Associated Press

Madison—The various phases of work of supervising teachers in Wisconsin is being considered this week at a meeting of the teachers which opened here Tuesday.

During the morning session Tuesday, supervisor G. S. Dick, of Madison, emphasized the importance of the work, declaring that the public must have returns for money invested. "This," he said, "can be done only by making the school an industrial institution where habits of work are made contagious to all."

J. W. Shaw explained the new school legislation and urged the teachers to do more than just teach lessons.

Among other speakers of the afternoon session was E. G. Doudna, secretary of the Wisconsin State Teacher's association.

THRESHING CREW FIGHTS FARM FIRE

Freedom—At the noon hour on Saturday, the farm house of Mrs. William Roach burned to the ground. A member of a threshing crew at work in barn noticed the flames breaking through the roof of the house and gave the alarm. The contents of the house were removed without damage

At the time the fire broke out dinner was on the tables for the threshing crew. The spread was carefully removed and served on the lawn after the furniture was saved and the fire had exhausted itself.

THREE MORE GERMAN COAL MINES SEIZED BY FRENCH

By Associated Press

Duesseldorf—Three more coal mines in the Gelsenkirchen district have been seized by the French, it was announced at occupational headquarters here Tuesday and thirty-five billion marks have been confiscated in this city.

Herr Rudert, editor of the Communist organ, Freiheit, who fled after making an inflammatory speech against the French on May 1, has been arrested.

TWO DEAD AND 47 INJURED IN GOTHAM FIRE

Building Collapses After Firemen Believe Conflagration Under Control

By Associated Press

New York—Two firemen were killed when the roof and one wall of New Plaza hall, located at Grand and Havemeyer-sts in Brooklyn, crashed during a spectacular fire Monday night according to a casualty list compiled by the police Tuesday. Forty seven men, mostly firemen, were injured. First reports had put the number of dead at ten.

Raymond Farrell and James Sullivan, both members of the same engine company were killed.

Many firemen were caught in the ruins and for hours rescue parties worked frantically in the debris, hampered by intense heat.

The dead were buried beneath debris which crushed them in the collapse that came just as the fire was believed be have been under control.

The hall, a landmark of Williamsburg for half a century, had been the scene of many political battles and at one time had been a Masonic hall. Lately it had been used for dances and lodge meetings.

RECORD CROWDS VISIT CAPITOL

Madison—The number of visitors registering at the state capitol indicate that this season's record will head the list.

During the past week 1,155 persons registered, and it is estimated that at least half that number made the rounds of the building on sightseeing trips, without the use of a guide.

The guides declare they are taking more persons through the building this year than any time since its completion. Sundays being the particularly heavy day. Last Sunday guides said as many as 100 persons were taken through in one party and the pace continued throughout the day.

Visitors are not alone from Madison, the register showing tourists from all parts of Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Michigan, and the Dakotas.

SCRUBWOMAN DISCHARGED FOR GOING TO WORK IN CAR

Detroit—Because she came to work in an automobile, one of the charwomen at the municipal courts building has been discharged. Joseph A. Martin, commissioner of public works and custodian of public buildings informed the common council here Monday night. Martin told the council it was the policy of his department to give cleaning work to needy women.

Members of the common council decided that while councilmen might own automobiles, scrubwomen with motor cars were quite another matter and upheld the decision of the commissioner.

MAN SHOOTS WOMAN, KILLS SELF IN FIT OF INSANITY

By Associated Press

Unity, Wis.—Believed to have been temporarily insane, Mike Hodar late Monday shot and seriously injured Mrs. Kommers, wife of a section foreman at Riplinger southwest of here in Clark-co, and then killed himself by sending five bullets into his head.

Ex-Chief Of Island Senate Says Manila Mayor Was Jailbird

28 Hour Sea To Sea Mail Route Started Today

By Associated Press

San Francisco, Cal.—Twenty-eight hour mail service between San Francisco and New York was inaugurated here when Burr M. Wilson, air mail service pilot, hopped off from Crissy field at 5:59 o'clock Tuesday morning in a de Havilland plane carrying 64 pounds of first class mail.

21,000 LETTERS IN LOAD

New York—Loaded with 24,000 special delivery letters bearing complimentary stamps and weighing 575 pounds, and a few first edition afternoon newspapers, one of five mail airplanes was ready Tuesday to inaugurate a five day test aerial mail express transcontinental mail service, the success of which will determine its permanency.

Regardless of weather conditions a plane will hop off daily from New York and San Francisco from now until Saturday. At 11 A. M. Pilot C. Eugene Johnson, in spite of the fact that late Monday night he suffered from a severe bronchial attack with high temperature, will take flight from Hazelhurst field, L. I., on the first westward flight of the test. Johnson will pass an eastbound mail plane pilot in mid-continent, barring accident.

POLICE TRACE INN ROBBERS TO ISLAND IN ERIE

Bandit Caught Shortly After Holdup Confesses Robbery Planned Week Ago

Detroit—Search for six of the seven bandits who early Sunday morning held up patrons of the Allendale inn here, and in making their escape, shot and killed Patrolman Oscar Reinhardt of Monroe, Mich., Tuesday led to a group of small islands in Lake Erie off the mainland near Monroe. The seventh member of the band, Herman Sakoloss, arrested three miles south of Monroe several hours after the holdup, confessed Monday night, according to the authorities, that the robbery of the inn had been planned more than a week ago.

A posse of more than 200 men Tuesday had formed a ring around the islands near Monroe after bloodhounds, aiding deputy sheriffs and members of the Michigan National Guard had lost the trail at the water's edge.

The statement attributed to Sakoloss confirmed the belief of the authorities that his companions had sought escape in the marshland near Monroe.

BICKERING MARKS TRIAL OF ARNOLD

Superior—District Attorney Wm. H. Dougherty was admonished by Judge C. Z. Luse, in federal district court here Tuesday for his manner of examining Wm. D. Tenney, former treasurer and secretary of the Madison Bond company of Wisconsin which Victor H. Arnold, as former president, is charged with using in the three alleged schemes to defraud by mail for which he is now on trial.

Defense attorneys had objected to Mr. Dougherty's leading questions constantly throughout the trial of the case, and finally Hal S. Corbett, chief defense attorney, asked the court to admonish the district attorney, which was done.

Bickering and side arguments between various defense attorneys and Mr. Dougherty have been frequent throughout the trial.

Tenney testified in cross examination that Arnold was in absolute control of the business of the Madison Bond company, even after the first of January 1921, when Arnold had but $2,500 worth of stock in the $600,000 corporation.

GREEN BAY GIRL, HIT BY TRUCK, DIES OF INJURIES

By Associated Press

Green Bay, Wis. — Gladys Delforge, 11 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Peter Delforge, died as she was being rushed to a local hospital a few minutes after she had been run down by a motor truck driven by Edward Lecapitaine, late Monday.

A fractured skull and broken neck caused death, according to the attending physician.

UNIFORM STATE LAWS URGED BY N. C. U. L. CHIEF

Chicago Legal Expert Speaks To National Conference Of Uniform Law

By Associated Press

Minneapolis—If present agitation to amend the constitution of the United States to deprive or limit the power of the Supreme court to declare legislation unconstitutional is successful, "the very foundation of the republic" would be undermined, declared Nathan W. MacChesney of Chicago, president of the National Conference of Uniform laws, in an address Tuesday at the opening session of that organization's annual meeting.

The conference, which began a six day session Tuesday morning, is a fore-runner of the annual gathering of the American Bar association, which begins Aug. 28.

Uniform state laws for settlement of industrial disputes, uniform arbitration blue sky and real and chattel property acts, and the federal primary law will be some of the matters to come before the conference for commendation to the Bar association.

DISCUSS CHANGES

In his annual address before the conference Tuesay Mr. MacChesney reviewed at length the work of the organization's various committees during the past year and then turned to discussion of state and national governments and demands for changes.

"There is constant complaint," said Mr. MacChesney, "about the holding up of our federal government with activities that properly belong with the states and a continued centralization which spells beaureaucracy. Most thoughtful men recognize that the continued creation of huge administrative machinery at Washington to administer activities which can really be done effectively only by local governments is wrong in principle, but few are devoting themselves to a constructive effort to obviate the necessity for centralization.

"The people demand efficiency, and if the movement is to be changed, an effective substitute must be found for unification through the enactment of federal laws. Such a substitute is really at hand in many fields in the drafting and enactment of uniform state statutes."

CHICAGO CLERKS THREATEN STRIKE

Chicago—A walkout of 16,000 clerks in 7,000 grocery stores of Chicago loomed Tuesday as a result of action taken Monday night by the Butchers' and Grocers' association rejecting wage increase demands of the Clerks' union and agreeing to "fight to a finish" the general walkout threatened by the union to take place Sept. 1.

Union demands include a $40 weekly minimum wage which is an increase of $10, no Sunday work, a 9 hour day, and time and a half for overtime, the same scale to apply to both men and women.

FRENCH CHIEF WILL WELCOME YANK VETS

By Associated Press

Indianapolis—Alvin Owsley, national commander of the American legion, and American delegates to the interallied veterans' federation convention at Brussels, will be welcomed to Paris on their arrival Aug. 26, by French government officials and Paris legion members, according to word received at the legion national headquarters here. The party will visit the old battlefront and will be received by President Millerand.

COOLIDGE SHOWS INTEREST IN U. S. SHIPPING PROBLEM

By Associated Press

Washington — President Coolidge again Tuesday dispensed with the regular cabinet meeting, preferring to meet with the members of his official family individually so as to obtain direct information as to the problems of the various departments.

It was indicated that the president was giving considerable attention to the merchant marine question. Several reports have been laid before him by chairman Farley of the shipping board and the executive Tuesday requested additional information relative to the board's program.

Manuel Quezon Cables Secretary Of War Wood Appointee Served Prison Term

Rodriguez Sentenced To Bilibid One Year For Hiring Bandits To Abduct Woman

Manila—Political circles were jarred by a bomb shell Monday afternoon when Manuel Quezon, who recently resigned as president of the Philippine senate because of his differences with the American executive administration announced he had cabled the secretary of war that Mayor Rodriguez of Manila, lately appointed to the post by Governor-General Wood, was an ex-convict from Bilibid prison.

The Herald issued an extra edition demanding editorially that the Governor-General request Mayor Rodriguez's resignation.

Quezon charged that Mayor Rodriguez served one year for procuring the abduction of a woman by a band of bandits. Rodriguez also was convicted, according to Quenzon's cable, of being an accomplice to the murder of J. P. Berry of the 27th United States infantry.

SUCCEEDED FERNANDEZ

Rodriguez, formerly governor of the province of Rizal, became mayor of Manila July 28, succeeding Ramon Fernandez, who resigned just before the cabinet and council of state resigned in a body. Rodriguez and Quezon have long been political opponents.

Although there had been a gradually widening split between the legislative leaders and Governor-General Wood, the immediate cause of the resignations was the Governor-General's action in reinstating a secret service official who had been dismissed for alleged bribery but later exonerated. The cabinet members, in resigning charged the governor-general with no ability "to intervene and control, even to the smallest details, our government, both insular and local, in utter disregard of the authority and responsibility of the department heads and other officials concerned."

Governor General Wood denied there was any basis for such charges and accused the leaders of "an organized and preconcerted attack upon the authority of the governor-general under the organic act and as the representative of the soverign power of the United States.

TWO HURT IN ATTACK BY LIQUOR PIRATES

By Associated Press

Gloucester, Mass.—Captain Arthur Moore of the Nova Scotia schooner J. Scott Hankenson was in critical condition here Tuesday as a result of a battle between the schooner's crew and rum pirates off Rockport, Monday. Harry Harm, the ship's cook, also was at the hospital suffering from several wounds.

What became of the pirates after they attacked the vessel is not known.

5 AMERICANS DEAD IN RIVIERA CRASH

FOUR HIGH CLASS NUMBERS ON ARTIST COURSE THIS YEAR

Frieda Hemple Will Be Brought Here As Extra Attraction Late In Season

Louis Gravoure, baritone, who was so enthusiastically received in Appleton during the last season, has been secured to open the course of the Community Lecture and Artist series at Lawrence Memorial chapel in November. The artist series this year will have but four numbers, all of which are high grade musical selections. A desire for fewer and better numbers was expressed last year by patrons. Frieda Hempel will be brought to Appleton in the spring in connection with the course, but her concert will be handled under separate financial management.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra of 100 pieces will come in December, while Meier and Pattison, the pianists who have been so well received in Milwaukee and other large cities have been secured for January. Florence Easton will appear in February as the closing number of the regular course.

The price for the four numbers will be $5 and $4 and the prices for Miss Hempel's concert have not been announced. The ticket sale for the five concerts will be handled by Carl J. Waterman and Carl McKee. It was announced by Dr. Samuel Plantz, who is chairman of the program committee, that the four courses for this year are costing $1000 more than the larger series last year. Miss Hempel's price is the highest of any of the artists, with the exception of Galli-Curci.

COBB'S 'STICKFULS' MAKES GOOD READING

Famous Journalist's Memoirs Deservedly Popular At Library Here

"Stickfuls" by Irvin S. Cobb was the most popular book in Appleton public library last week and the book is more than worthy of the honor. "Stickfuis" is a look-in on Cobb's Memoirs. Many there are who will tell that Reporter Cobb was one of the best space-grabbers that ever pounded a typewriter on Park Row, New York. Before there was a Judge Priest or a Jeff Poindexter, there existed Irvin S. Cobb, newspaper reporter. He covered some pretty big stories in his newspaper career, beginning with the assassination of Governor Goebel of Kentucky. His most celebrated stunt was the story of the Thaw trial, which he wrote as it proceeded, in longhand, keeping pace with the telegraphers. Mr. Cobb who says he is still a reporter and always expects to be one, has kept just enough in touch with his old profession to be up-to-date: in its changes it has not passed him by. "Stickfuls" deserves reading by everyone who wants to get an understanding of the newspaper business given brightly but earnestly. The last chapter of the book trails off into mere reminiscences but on the whole it is ably conceived and ably executed.

The other fiction numbers in demand last week were "His Children's Children" by Train and "Vandemark's Folly" by Quick. Both have been among the most popular books since they have been catalogued at the local library.

Papini's "Life of Christ" is a nonfiction book which has been as widely discussed as any religious book ever written. It is especially unusual inasmuch as it was written by a person formerly an atheist and translated by Dorothy Canfield, one of the five foremost women novelists. The other number in non-fiction was "Memories of My Life" by Sarah Bernhardt.

APPLETON PEOPLE AT CHURCH MEETING

Several members of the Evangelical church are attending the district camp meeting which opened on Monday evening at Forest Junction. The district meeting of the Sunday school and Christian Endeavor of the church will open on Thursday and continue through Sunday. John Trautman of Appleton will be on the program Friday morning.

The Rev. C. F. Rabehl and son Floyd, the Rev. H. A. Bernhardt and family are at the camp meeting, while Mrs Albert Gorres, Mrs. George Creh Mrs. A. H. Finger and Miss Marie Finger will leave Friday .Other members of the church will auto to Forest Junction on Sunday to attend the closing sessions.

FARMERS ARE SELLING APPLES TO TRAVELERS

Although hickory nutting time still is a few weeks hence, "city hugs" are finding many an excuse to motor into some of the side farm districts of the county. One of the reasons is that Duchess and Transparent apples are ripening, and so are the Whitney crabs. A number of farmers are advertising the fact by means of the handmade detour sign pointing the traveler directly into the farm yard where apples are selling as cheap as 50 cents a bushel.

Long Night Trip

George E. Prettier made a flying trip to Baraboo Monday evening, leaving Appleton shortly after 5 o'clock and returning at 4 o'clock Tuesday morning. He found the detour on state trunk highway 23 at Waupun in good condition.

I SPIED TODAY

With the approach of cooler weather, there is a revival of interest in the I Spied Today column. The Post-Crescent is giving a pair of free tickets to the Elite theatre for every item that is published. "The Bright Shawl" is the attraction for the first three days of this week. Readers of the Post-Crescent are invited to contribute items describing news happenings which escape attention of reporters. The items should be brief and written in an interesting manner.

"AND DON'T GET IT WET"

If you think it is an easy job for a small boy to carry a newly pressed suit of his father's under an umbrella and not get it wet when it is raining hard, you should have seen the efforts of a lad on Appleton-st at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning. The boy was holding the suit on its hanger high above his head with one hand while he held an umbrella over it with the other. The boy himself was out in the rain, but the suit was high and dry. B. SHOULD WEAR HELMETS

As I went to the postoffice Saturday morning I saw a number of the firemen eating watermelon in regular "coon" style. Some of them were standing at the edge of the curb, letting the water drip from the generous pieces into the gutter. They were having a hard time keeping their feet from getting wet at that. H. B.

"CHEWING THE RAG"

Monday, while ascending the hill at the end of Washington-st, a ragman lost a large bag of rags. A boy happened along on a bicycle and picked up the bag. He had considerable difficulty in hoisting it to his handle bars and when he finally succeeded the ragman returned in search of his rags. He took hold of one end of the bag and the boy the other. There was a long and heated conversation between them when finally the ragman jerked the bag away from the boy and started toward his wagon. I. S.

ANOTHER "NO STOP" DRIVER

Saturday night, about 10:45, while sitting on the front porch, I spied a truck come around the corner by the Y. M. C. A. tennis courts and crash right into a car parked in front of the Elks club. The truck, seeming not to be damaged, kept right on going. Thinking that the crash sounded pretty bad, I ran over to look at the car. It was a Nash, license No. 105-831, and one fender was crushed in. The damage was not so great, but the follow driving the truck sure did have nerve to keep going. P. F.

JUST A LADIES' COLLISION

A Ford sedan with license number 305-170, driven by a young lady, crashed into a Buick sedan, with license number 171-015, also driven by a young lady at the corner of Sydney-st and Kimberly-ave at Kimberly Monday afternoon.

The front wheels of the cars interlocked and the force of the collision carried both cars about ten feet from the middle of the road. The fender of the Ford was crushed beyond salvage and its running board also was crumpled. The front fender of the Buick, too, was ripped open. The driver or "driveress" of the Ford thought that she had the right of way since she was traveling south while the driveress of the Buick was traveling west. J. H.

3 CARS DAMAGED IN OSHKOSH-RD WRECK

Three automobiles were damaged in one accident Monday evening on the Oshkosh-Neenah rd, when a big Marmon sedan became jammed between the Buick automobile owned by W. W. Root of Appleton and another Buick.

While the front end of the Marmon was partly doubled in, and the Buick car was considerably damaged on the left side, the Appleton car seemed to be wrecked the most. Mr. Root said Tuesday he did not know just what the extent of the damage was.

The accident occurred about four miles south of Oshkosh shortly after 5 o'clock Mr. Root was following a smaller Buick and when that car slowed up suddenly, he swerved to the left on the slippery road, but just then the Marmon coming from the opposite direction wedged in between the two cars. No one was injured.

WOMEN ENJOY TRIP TO LEGION CONVENTION CITY

Over 150 women from all parts of Wisconsin attended the third annual state convention of the Womans Legion auxiliary of the American legion held Aug 22 to 25 in Superior. The most important address of the convention was one made by Commander Alvin Owsley of the American legion.

A round of pleasure trips was planned for the guests by the Superior chapter which included automobile rides about the country, a boat trip on Lake Superior and a dancing party. A big banquet was the feature Thursday evening.

Appleton persons attending were Mrs George Hopfensperger, Mrs A. B. Fisher, Mrs. Clyde Calvert, Mrs. Adele Roudebush and Mrs Phillip Miller

TWO SISTERS OF APPLETON WOMAN SINK WITH LAUNCH

Mrs. L. R. Reuhs Learns Of Tragedy In Her Family Through Post-Crescent

Mrs. L. R. Reuhs, 841 College-ave, lost two sisters, Mrs. Andrew Martinelli, 31, and Miss Margaret Mahn, 13, in the sinking of the launch in Mississippi river near St. Paul Sunday evening. Mrs. Martinelli's husband and their two sons, Robert, 6, and Alfred 4, and Mr. Martinelli's mother, Mrs. Pauline Martinelli, 65 also were drowned. In fact, the entire family was wiped out.

Mrs. Reuhs was not aware of the accident until she read it in the Post-Crescent Monday evening. Simultaneously with the reading a brother of Mr. Reuhs called him up from Milwaukee and notified him he had just read about it in a newspaper of that city.

Mr. Reuhs sent a telegram to St. Paul to have the story verified. It was correct in all details and relatives requested that Mrs. Reuhs come at once. Nearly overcome by the shock she left for St. Paul on the midnight Soo train at Neenah. Only one of ten bodies, that of Mrs. Pauline Martinelli had been recovered up to Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Martinelli and their sons were planning to visit their Appleton relatives next week. The trip was to have been made in their automobile.

BRIDGEMEN HUSTLE TO CLOSE BRIDGE

Fire Department Barely Misses Delay In Rushing To Fourth Ward Blaze

Quick action was necessary Saturday on the part of employes of the city street and engineering departments who were making repairs on the John-st drawbridge just before the fire apparatus made a run to the lower Fourth ward. It was just in time that the bridge was closed to allow the firemen to hurry to the fire at Richmond school.

Employes under the direction of the city engineer had the bridge jacked up to take out ring and pinion gears so as to put in new keys, as the shaft was dragging on the abutment. A signal system is in use whereby the bridgetender can notify the fire department whenever the bridge is opened, but the department did not receive the alarm.

LUTZ BUYS FLOUR AND FEED STORE

Lawrence Lutz Takes Over Business Operated By Comerford & Clark

Announcement has been made by Lawrence Lutz of the Lutz Ice company that he has purchased the business of Commerford and Clark's flour and feed store at 623 Morrison-st. Both William Commerford and W. O. Clark, who have been in the flour and feed business in Appleton for many years are retiring from business and Mr. Lutz will operate their business through a manager.

The new owner has purchased the building in which the business is located and probably will remodel it in the spring.

RESORT KEEPERS DENOUNCE CHANGE IN FISHING LAW

Demand That Undersized Fish Be Returned To Water—Campers Are "in Bad"

Warnings to guests in the northern lakes resorts that they must abide by the former laws regarding size of fish which are removed from the lakes are being posted in most of the resort buildings and premises in that part of the country. An official warning was sent out last week by the Manitowish association telling campers and fishermen that unless they abided by the former laws, which have been repealed by recent act of legislature, there would be no fish within a very short time.

Prior to the action taken by the association, the individual resort keepers had made it plain to their guests that no undersized fish would be allowed on the premises and certainly not cooked in the resort kitchen. The owners of the lake hotels are highly indignant at the repeal of the law and are doing everything in their power to protect the fish in the waters in northern Wisconsin. The guides from the resorts who accompany the guests on fishing trips insist that small fish be returned to the water.

Stories are told at all the resorts concerning the poor sportsmanship of many of the tourists in taking undersized fish from the lakes. Considerable feeling against the campers who leave a trail of papers and tin cans after them through the northern region is being expressed. Many of the fisherman who have been spending their summers on the lakes for years are vehement in their protests against the wanton disfigurement of the region.

NEW SELECTIONS GAIN POPULARITY

"Oh Harold" was as popular last week in sheet music as it was in phonograph records and "Dreamy Melody" was a close second in the race for best sellers. "Dreamy Melody" is the older piece of the two. Other selections were, "Swinging Down the Lane", I Never Miss the Sunshine", "Who's Sorry Now", "Drifting Back to Dreamland" and "That Red Head Gal".

The five best sellers for last week at the four stores handling sheet music were as follows:

Carroll's Music Shop: Oh, Harold, I Never Miss the Sunshine, Dreamy Melody, Drifting Back to Dreamland, Carolina Mammy.

Meyer-Seeger Music Co: The-Ten-Tennessee, Dreamy Melody, Lou'siana Old Kig Tut, Who's Sorry Now.

Irving Zuelke: Dirty Hands, Dirty Face, Gulf Coast Blues, Wolverine Blues, Stella, Oh, Harold.

Miss S. E. Anderson: Stella, Oh Harold, That Red Head Gal, Swinging Down the Lane, Dreamy Melody.

FORD'S HIGH WAGES MAKES IT EASY TO OBTAIN MEN

By paying higher wages than anyone else Henry Ford has no trouble in getting all the help he needs in the northern mining and lumber districts, according to Herman J. Kamps, former county clerk. Mr. Kamps is connected with the Garvey-Weyenberg Construction company which has the contract for several miles of pavement in Marquette co.

The wages paid by most of the employers is $4.85 per day, but Ford's wage is approximately $6.50 for nine hours work, and men are drawn to him from all the other firms, Mr. Kamps said. Mr. Ford has just completed a private road of 150 miles through his timber districts. He is now spending his vacation in that part of the country and it is expected he will visit his mining and other interests before his return.

$635,000 In Frayed Money Sent Out Of Here Yearly

More than half a million dollars in mutilated currency is returned annually to the government by Appleton banks through their correspondent banks and federal reserve banks. To be more exact the amount is approximately $635,000. The monthly amount returned averages close to $53,000.

Bills of the smaller denominations suffer the greatest mutilation. They are used more than those of the larger denominations and are more crumpled and saturated with perspiration.

A bill is redeemed at face value except in cases where only half of it is presented. In such instances it is redeemed at 50 per cent of its value for the reason the other half may be in the hands of some one else who might present it for redemption at some other bank.

If more than half of the bill is intact it brings its full value as the missing portion would then be worthless. Wherever figures of a bill are missing or wherever there is any suggestion of fraud or the raising of bills the name and address of the person presenting it is attached to the bill.

In forwarding the mutilated currency the local banks are credited with the amounts or other currency is forwarded to them if desired. A few banks are equipped for cleaning soiled bills, but this practice is not general.

LEGION PREPARES FOR BANQUET ON ARMISTICE DAY

Ask Approval Of County Posts Of Plan Of Changing Official Year

Plans for an Armistice day banquet, which will take place on Monday, Nov. 12, were made at the meeting of the executive committee of the Oney Johnson post of the American legion Monday evening at Conway hotel. Work was commenced on the fall activities of the legion. The first meeting of the post will take place on the second Monday in September, since the regular meeting would fall on Labor day, when all the members of the post have been urged to take part in the big valley legion picnic at Neenah park.

Among the things which were discussed at the meeting was the changing of the official year so that the officers complete their terms by Oct. 1 and new officers are elected and installed for the regular November meeting. This matter was referred to the county council for unanimous approval of all the posts. The change in the year was voted upon by the recent legion convention to become effective next year in order that the officers may be ready for the yearly drive for payment of dues in January. If the county council gives its approval the change will be made in Outagamie this year instead of waiting a year.

All members of the post who are planning to attend the Labor day picnic of the valley legion posts will meet Monday morning, Sept. 3 at the Elks club and go to Neenah in a body. The valley picnic will be an annual affair.

LAWRENCE BOYS SEEK WORK FOR SCHOOL YEAR

Six ambitious college boys who are earning their way through school have written to the employment bureau of the Y. M. C. A. asking that they be registered for part time work during the school months. All of the boys are known to C. L. Boynton, who is in charge of employment and he is certain that they will give good service. All of the boys would be able to take clerkships, but they are willing to do anything that will not interfere with their class hours at college. One of them is an expert clarinet and saxophone player and would like a position in an orchestra. Anyone interested in helping these boys to help themselves through college is urged to call Mr. Boynton at once.

As soon as college opens there will be many boys who will be looking for part time jobs. The ones who have already written to Mr. Boynton are those who have been in Appleton before and who wish to begin work at once.

Directors Meet

The board of directors of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce will have a monthly meeting in the assembly room of the chamber at 7:30 Wednesday evening. Several important matters will be reported by various committee chairmen.

OH, HAROLD LEADS IN RECORD SALES

Google And Banana Songs Relegated To Background By New Favorites

"Oh, Harold" was without a doubt one of the most popular phonograph record numbers last week at the local music stores. It is interesting to note that "Barney Google" and "Yes, we have no bananas" were not selling and that instead a number of newer pieces have supplanted them. "Stella" was nearly as popular as "Oh, Harold" and "I Never Miss the Sunshine" was in great demand. Several of the dealers stated "I Never Miss the Sunshine" will probably be one of the biggest sellers. Other good sellers are: "Nobody Knows but my Pillow and Me" and "Swinging Down the Lane." The classical numbers in demand during the week were either vocal selections or orchestra numbers.

The following pieces were the best sellers in each make of record last week:

Victor: I Never Miss the Sunshine, Oh, Harold, Drifting Back to Dreamland, Cats Whiskers, Goin' Home (Werrenrath).

Columbia: Louisville Lou, Morning Will Come, Beal Street Mamma, Long Lost Mamma, Boat Song (Graveure).

Edison: I Never Miss the Sunshine, Benny, Be Yourself, Ten-Ten-Tennessee, Oh, Harold, Verdi's Prelude (American Symphony Orchestra).

Okeh: Oh, Harold, Ten-Ten-Tennessee, My Sweety Went Away, When June Came Along, Dirty Hands, Dirty Face.

Brunswick: Stella, Now that I Need You, You're Gone, Swinging Down the Lane, Who's Sorry Now, Ave Maria (Florence Easton).

Vocalion: Stella, Carolina Mammy, Oh, How She Lied, Ritzi Mitzi, Walkure (Aeolian Symphony Orchestra).

Victor: When June Comes Along with a Song, Stella, Oh, Harold, Nobody Knows but My Pillow and Me, Viennese Dances (Philadelphia Symphony orchestra).

FIVE HI-Y BOYS AT MANITOWISH Y CAMP

Henry Wood, Douglas Hyde, Carl Packard and Carl Engler are at the Y. M. C. A. at Manitowish to attend the two weeks' period for Hi-Y members which opened Tuesday. Harold Zuelke and Reynolds Challoner will be at the camp for the last of the two weeks and other members of the Appleton Hi-Y may be present for part of the sessions.

The Hi-Y period will conclude the Y. M. C. A. camp for this year. The camp has enjoyed a very successful summer. Few Appleton boys aside from Hi-Y members took advantage of the chance for training in the boys' camp.

DAIRY SHOW WILL BE STATE FAIR FEATURE

Wisconsin Fair Officials Will Send Prize Winners To Minnesota Fair

State Fair Park, Wis.—With the removal of the national dairy show to Syracuse, N. Y., Wisconsin's position as the leading dairy state in America will be doubly emphasized at the State Fair, which opens August 27. The dairy cattle department of the State Fair which has, for years, been a far more important vehicle for the determination of supremacy in this line than the national dairy show or any of the state fairs of the northwest, is being more than doubled in exhibition capacity for the coming exposition.

There has developed a rivalry in this division between counties of the state, each of which is able to send to the State Fair more better quality dairy animals than many states in the middle west have within their borders. As a result, the judging pavilion at the Milwaukee grounds will be the scene of keener competition and more high grade cattle than any other dairy cattle show in the United States can boast of.

For the purpose of helping the Minnesota state fair to make as good a showing as possible in its dairy cattle department, Wisconsin officials have arranged with the railroad companies to send a number of special express trains composed solely of cattle cars from Milwaukee to the Twin Cities. The Minnesota fair is endeavoring this year to make special efforts to offer a dairy department that will approximate the national dairy show which pulled up stakes at Hamline and moved to Syracuse. Just how far this aid will be effective in giving Minnesota a good show cannot be foretold, but Wisconsin fair officials are inclined to encourage their western neighbors in their efforts to build up dairying in that state and the northwest, especially as the business men of the Twin Cities, through their Association of Commerce, have furnished something like $20,000 for prize awards.

DECLINE IN NUMBER OF SWINE IN THE WORLD

Numbers of swine in the principal producing countries of the world are estimated at 227,431,000 head by the United States department of agriculture, compared with 263,844,000 head for a representative pre-war year. This is a decrease of 36,413,000 head or 14 per cent.

The United States shows the largest increase in production. There were 63,424,000 hogs on farms on Jan. 1, 1923, compared with 58,933,000 hogs on farms on Jan. 1, 1914. Smaller decreases are indicated for Argentina and Canada.

The number of swine in most of the European countries was less in the recent estimates than during the pre-war period, the department states. Some of the countries showing decreases in numbers are France, Germany and Denmark.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y.—It was announced that arrangements had been concluded for the Epsom Derby winner, Papyrus, and an American three year old to be selected through tests to meet at Belmont park Saturday, Oct. 2, in a race over the derby distance for a purse of $100,000 under the auspices of the Jockey club.

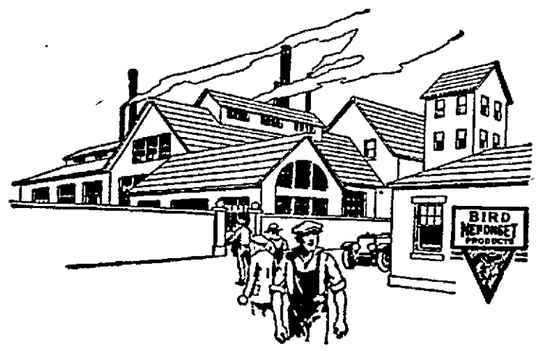

Birmingham—Bob Roper, heavyweight, knocked out Tom Berry of Cincinnati with one punch in the second round of a scheduled ten round bout.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE COAL CRISIS

What happens in the remaining ten days of August may determine whether Calvin Coolidge is to be elected to the presidency in his own right. It would be too much to say that executive handling of the controversy between the hard coal operators and miners which threatens a strike, would decide the presidency, but it perhaps is not too much to say that the qualities of leadership and governmental wisdom displayed by Mr. Coolidge in this emergency may lay the groundwork for such a decision.

What the public expects is a settlement. It has long been evident that the public could not determine from the propaganda and partisan statements of the operators and miners where the equities of their disputes lie. The report of the coal commission confirms the belief of coal consumers, that they cannot rely upon the representations of either and that these representations are biased and misleading. The events of last week in connection with the movement inaugurated by the president to get the operators and miners together disclosed a tendency to split hairs and to quibble over nonessential facts.

Leaders of the miners and operators are in joint session at Atlantic City this week in a final effort to reach an understanding by direct negotiations. In the event that they fail the country expects action by the president to prevent a suspension of mining on September 1st. It does not know exactly what the action may be, but it depends upon the president to make it effective. It expects Mr. Coolidge to wield the "big stick" that Mr. Roosevelt employed with such good results in a similar crisis some twenty years ago. The public is much more interested in getting coal than it is in taking sides in the fight between the coal mine owners and their employes. It wishes justice done and it knows the president will not favor injustice. It is tired of being made the goat of ceaseless contention in the coal mining industry. If the president is compelled to intervene he probably will have to offend one side or the other. The public will not care about this. The chances are ten to one that the public, provided it gets coal, will say that the president did right. It hopes that the president will, in case of a deadlock, fix the responsibility. If he does the chances are that the public will approve his judgment, knowing that he will be in the best position to fix the responsibility and that he will do so without prejudice.

This is the situation in a nutshell. If the president rises to the occasion and protects public interests by providing the country with coal, no matter what the operators and miners do or do not do, he will have demonstrated his resourcefulness and dependability as the nation's executive in such a manner as to enlist the widest confidence and support. A president who meets the coal emergency in this strong fashion is likely to meet the other problems of administration with similar success and satisfaction.

WHY JAIL DE VALERA?

Eamonn De Valera long refused to permit Ireland to settle her difficulties by fair vote and majority rule. He upheld the plan of violent persuasion. The tables turned, he falls a victim to the employment, on the part of his political enemies, of his own methods.

But because two wrongs do not make a right, the arrest of DeValera—assuming that the Free State had no evidence of new military conspiracies by him—was a tactical mistake and will be recognized as such throughout the world. To friends of Ireland the shift of DeValera to peaceful methods was a signal for a new day, when settlements should come via the ballot box pencil instead of the trigger. For months it had been a common supposition that the Free State troops could capture him any time, and that he was free only by recognition of the fact that he was more dangerous in prison than at large, as a martyr than as a leader.

Repeatedly the news from Ireland has been that the countryside is sick of guerrilla warfare and will not carry it on any longer for DeValera or any one else. If that is the truth, it is time for the Free State to rest securely upon the polls instead of soldiery. Without the least sympathy for DeValera, an ill-inspired zealot, many Irishmen will inquire why the Free State should have interfered with a DeValera speech, unless it is afraid of a peaceful settlement by a majority of Irishmen as to whether it shall continue to be the government.

THE LEGION AND THE GUARD

The Wisconsin department of the American Legion in convention at Superior declared in a resolution adopted that it considered Lieutenant-Governor George F. Comings of Madison "unfit to hold a public office" because of his alleged utterances "relative to the national guard, which were insulting and untrue and reflected upon our honored dead and unbecoming a person in his position."

Assuming that Mr. Comings actually said what he is reputed to have said, the American Legion is right and it is performing a public service in its pronouncement. Any person is unfit to hold public office in this country who makes an attack upon the National Guard as such. Any president would be unfit for that office who attacked the army or the navy as an institution. All of these military establishments, state and federal, are vitally necessary to the peace and good order of the country. They are vitally necessary to the protection of life and property and to the maintenance of government itself.

A politician who strikes at the National Guard which is an integral part of our national defense as well as the guarantor of our rights as citizens and of the supremacy of law, strikes at government itself. That element in the recent legislature which tried to abolish the National Guard of Wisconsin was, whether realizing it or not, the enemy of law and order, and of responsible government. No better test of a man's Americanism and of his fitness for office could be applied than his attitude toward the National Guard. It is a foundation test and it should be applied sternly and uncompromisingly.

SOME HIGH-FINANCE IN CUBA

The appeal of American transportation and financial interests to the American government to protect the Cuban government against a railroad consolidation bill which is pending in the Cuban congress recalls some of the ingenius legislation which used to be enacted in American states and cities. The American state department seriously considers filing the protest, and almost certainly will do so.

The bill complained of would apparently give a transportation monopoly to a consolidation of three existing lines, and, in doing so, would give the new corporation power either to put American transportation concerns out of business or to absorb them at low prices. Ports at which independent lines operate would be practically closed by law, and closing of the ports would compel the roads to discontinue operating.

Seemingly, the bill will be passed, and it may be passed despite American governmental protest. Cuba is a young nation, a young government. We have had experience in this land with similar legislation, which generally enriched private interests and corrupted government.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician And Author

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

THE ANEMIC CHILD

Anemia means lack of blood, either a diminished number of red corpuscles or a diminished proportion of hemoglobin (the substance which gives the red corpuscles color) or both. To know that a patient is anemic is not enough, but we must try to find out what is responsible for the anemia in order to overcome the trouble.

Anemia, in other words, is not a disease condition which may be successfully treated without regard for the cause in any case. There are a great many different causes to be considered by the physician in the diagnosis of a case in which anemia is present. Certainly it is useless for one with anemia to imagine that some iron in the form of medicine will answer the needs. Suppose, for example, the cause of the anemia in a given case is latent or unrecognized tuberculosis or a "silent" abcess in a tonsil or at the root of a crowned or filled tooth which feels all right; how futile for the anemic one to resort to iron "tonics" in the vain hope of stopping the destruction of his blood cells by the poisons given off from the unrecognized focus of infection or disease. Not only is the popular habit of taking medicine which purport to build blood generally fruitless but in many cases it proves harmful since valuable time is wasted while the useless experiment is tried, and the disease or poisoning goes on unrestrained meanwhile.

In rare cases anemia is really due to abnormal restriction in the diet—a shortage of the iron ration—and in such cases no doubt iron in the form of medicine is quite as available and useful to the body as is iron in the form of ordinary food.

I can mention only some of the numerous causes of anemia in children, in order to show the importance of a proper diagnosis in each case before any treatment is undertaken.

Tuberculosis or syphilis, congenital or inherited; frequent slight bleeding of any kind, or a severe hemorrhage; bottle feeding without supplementary items such as fruit juice, vegetable broths, meat broths and so on, diseased tonsils; adenoid enlargement; chronic nephritis; prolonged infection or suppuration of any kind; keeping a child on a diet of milk for too long a time—far into the second or even the third year; feeding children tea and coffee, and permitting them to have cocoa in lieu of more adequate food; allowing them to have sweets and candy at irregular hours, thus destroying the natural appetite for more essential foods.

The child's appetite for sugar, sweets, cookies, pastries, candies, cake, ice cream and the like is not unnatural and should be reasonably satisfied, but these items should be given only as dessert, and not at all hours or at any time when the natural appetite should be first satisfied with a meal. The child needs sugar if he is a regular child actively playing and using its muscles. He can worry along without sugar and candy; perhaps, if he is a namby-pamby and takes no part in rough games or play.

Confinement for hours every day in an overheated room where fresh air is considered harmful—as in ordinary school room—is an important cause of anemia; lack of at least an hour of open air life every day is another cause which must be charged up to "home work" in some schools.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

An Orphan's Nits

Taking care of an orphan girl who has been sadly neglected. She has nits in her hair. She has long hair and I can't take her to a barber to have her hair bobbed until her head is clean. She is 12 years old.—Mrs. G. G.

Answer—That is fortunate for the girl. It would be unwise to have her hair cut. You can remove the nits by drawing small strands of hair carefully and patiently through a soft cloth wet each time with hot vinegar. You can destroy the lice by saturating the hair with kerosene and leaving this on the hair for three or four hours (meanwhile seeing that the child is kept away from fire or flame) and then a thorough shampoo. It is never justifiable to clip, cut or bob a young woman's hair.

VACATION SPASMS

This back to nature bunkum isn't everything they say,
For a lot of plain discomforts are hanging in the way;
The finest woodland spot is with some plague of flies accurst—
And where the husky muskies lie, the

Bass and mosquitoes,
Mosquitoes and bass.
Bugs in the butter
And snakes in the grass.

The ants get in the coffee, and the flies get in the soup,
While sleeping on the chilly ground

Then if you try to steal a nap be-

A slimy, grimy copperhead will bite you in the mush.

Latin May Be World Language

(Willis Fletcher Johnson, in The North American Review.)

The oft-mooted scheme of an international or universal language is again put forward in a temperate and judicious fashion and by high authority. I should hesitate to say how many such schemes have been conceived and urged upon a reluctant world, even in the comparatively few years since the preposterous Volapuk enhanced the gayety of nations; and of course that was very far from the beginning of the campaign.

Cecil Rhodes was pretty nearly right when he said that the confusion of tongues at Babel was the greatest blunder mankind ever committed, and that all should have been contented for all time with a single language; though doubtless there will be wide dissent from his added remark, that of course that one language should have been the English. The fact is that there is scarcely anything to which men are more attached than their native languages. They are more ready to change their form of government or their religion than their speech.

Note the inveterate antagonisms, the persistent controversies, which have arisen over language—as in South Africa, in Hungary before the World war, in Russian Poland, even for a time in Canada. The glib proposal that all men should renounce their native tongues and all jabber nothing but Volapuk was a striking example of fools rushing in where angels fear to tread.

Three of the greatest languages in history have in certain periods enjoyed universal use for certain purposes, but none of them, Greek, Latin or French, ever wholly displaced a single other tongue of importance. Dean West of Princeton prudently aims not at the supplanting of any languages, but at the provision of an auxiliary to supplement existing languages, especially in diplomacy and commerce.

Of such an auxiliary there is unquestionably need, and there is more to be said in favor of "a simplified Latin" for filling it than of any other that has ever been proposed. Latin is one of the oldest of existing languages and not an artificial contrivance; it is not now specifically identified with any one nation and is therefore exempt from jealousy; it is perhaps already more widely known than any other, and it is easy, beautiful and particularly practical and effective. To many of us not the least of its recommendations would be that the proposed use of it would continue and increase acquaintance with the vast treasury of Latin literature which forms an essential foundation of real culture.

Mules Haven't Spark Of Sense

(From Kansas City Times.)

"I've heard it said that mules have good sense, but many years ago I found out they are dumb in more ways than one."

The speaker was Capt. Patrick Clark, veteran member of the police department now on special duty at the Nineteenth-st police station and the South side municipal court.

"They remind me," continued the captain, "of the days when Kansas City's street cars were drawn by mules. A large barn to house the animals was at Seventeenth-st and Madison-av. Near Fourth and Main-sts was the turn-table where the cars were turned to head back over the route. The route from the barn to the turn-table and back was known to every mule, as he covered it frequently.

"On several occasions these mules succeeded in breaking out of the barn. Did they seek the green pastures that abounded around the town in those days? They did not!

"Instead, they all came charging along the car route to the turn-table, made the turn and hiked back to the barn as fast as they could go, thoroughly satisfied they were foot-loose and fancy-free and having a devil of a time."

The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.)

Q. Where does the American flag fly day and night? D. R. McG.

A. So far as we know the only place where the American flag flies all night as well as all day, is at the grave of Francis Scott Key, who is buried in Frederick, Maryland. There is a portrait statue of Key in the cemetery. He stands with his hand up-raised, pointing to the Stars and Stripes.

Q. How long was Washington's Farewell Address? J. H. K.

A. It occupied in manuscript 32 pakes of quorto letterpaper sewed together in a book. The address was first published in the Philadelphia Advertiser, September, 1796. The address is dated September 19 of that year.

Q. What is the difference between "arrest" and "prosecute?" W. R. F.

A. A person is placed under "arrest" when he is taken into custody by a peace officer. A person is "prosecuted" when he is brought before a court and tried on a criminal charge.

Q. What was Governor Al Smith's majority at the last election? C. W. L.

A. Governor Smith was elected in 1922 by a plurality, not a majority, of 385,945.

Q. Are capital letters ever used in Hebrew? F. G. B.

A. The Hebrew and Yiddish languages use no capitals. They have, however, five duplicate letters to be used at ends of words only. Hebrew and Yiddish are two entirely different languages having nothing in common except the alphabet. This is composed of 28 letters. Only 23 of them have distinct sounds, five being duplicates, used at the ends of words.

Q. Did the ancient Egyptians perform surgical operations? T. F. C.

A. Records prove that the Egyptians did practice surgery at least 1500 years B. C. Despite lack of knowledge of physiology and anatomy and of superior instruments and equipment, they performed with success many operations: on the eye, for the removal of calculi; and amputations of various sorts.

Q. What furs are most used commercially? D. K.

A. More rabbit skins are used every year than the pelts of any other animals; squirrel skins rank next and muskrat skins third.

Q. What is meant by reinforced concrete? F. C. R.

A. It applies to concrete in which steel is imbedded.

Q. Does the dealer at bridge have a right to shuffle the cards after they have been shuffled for him? J. N. H.

A. The laws of auction state that the dealer has the right to shuffle last, but must not shuffle after the cut save in the contingencies which call for a new shuffle and a new cut.

Q. How long can peaches be kept in cold storage? T. H. T.

A. Peaches of good color, yet still hard, if fresh from the tree, have been kept in cold storage for four weeks and found at the conclusion of that period in fairly marketable condition.

Q. What does it cost to maintain a concrete road? D. McD.

A. Engineers estimate that in a general way for a 16 to 20 foot well-built concrete road it will cost about $50 a mile annually for filling cracks and joints, with a total annual slab maintenance of from $100 to $400 per mile, depending upon the amount of traffic.

Q. When was Washington called the City of Magnificent Distances? M. M. D.

A. This name was applied to the city when it was laid out near the close of the eighteenth century. It was planned on so grand a scale that few believed that the vision of the founders would ever become fact. The term applied in derision has become one of which the city is proud.

Q. How man forest fires occur each year? J. M. T.

A. The U. S. Forest Service reports that 23,400 forest fires were reported last year and that the average number of forest fires for the past six years stands at about 22,500. The area burned over each year totals about 7,000,000 acres.

Q. Is the banjo clock older than the tall grandfather's clock? C. D. H.

A. The tall clocks first made their appearance during the latter part of the seventeenth century, while the banjo clock was patented by Willard in 1802.

Playhouse Is Name Of New Womans Club

City of Appleton, meet the Playhouse of Appleton Womans club.

For such is the name that has been given to the building on Harris-st, formerly occupied by the chapel of Trinity English Lutheran church Playhouse was what the recreation directors of the club wished to call the building because it will house practically all of the recreation activities of the club, but they did not suggest it before leaving for camp.

When they returned to the new quarters after camp, they found that the same name had been suggested by many members of the club. The name had already been applied to the building and so it shall be known.

PICNICS

The rainy weather Tuesday morning upset the plans for two big outings which were to have been held during the day. Women of Mooseheart Legion, whose card party and picnic was planned for Waverly beach, postponed their gathering until Tuesday afternoon and evening, Aug. 28. The all-day outing of the congregation and Sunday school of the Presbyterian church also has been postponed one week.

WEDDINGS

The marriage of Miss Mildred Winter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Winter, 797 State-st, to William Cochran of Chicago, took place at 7 o'clock Tuesday morning. The ceremony was performed by Msgr. W. J. Fitzmaurice in St. Mary church. Miss Helen Winter and Harry Warren were the attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Cochran left for the northern part of the state following a wedding breakfast in the Blue room of Conway hotel. They will make their home in Chicago.

PARTIES

Mr. and Mrs. J. Waffle entertained at a lawn party at their home near Greenville Sunday. Dinner and supper was served on the lawn. During the afternoon cards and games furnished entertainment for 40 guests.

Mrs. L. J. Marshall entertained at a 1 o'clock luncheon Tuesday at Conway hotel. Covers were laid for 12 guests.

CLUB MEETINGS

The ukelele clubs of Appleton Womans club will meet at 7 and 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in the auditorium of the Playhouse. Miss Marie Heineman will be in charge of the meetings.

LODGE NEWS

Womans Catholic Order of Foresters will meet Wednesday evening in Forester Home on Washington-st. A social will follow the business session.

Plans for the redecorating and completing of the new Moose home were discussed Monday evening at a special meeting of Local Order of Moose and Women of Mooseheart Legion. The dedication of the building also was considered but the date has not been set.

Loyal Order of Moose will meet at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening in Pythian-Moose hall. Routine business matters will be discussed.

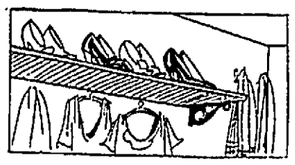

Plans for a membership drive for Royal Neighbors to be held in September were discussed Monday evening at a meeting of the organization in South Masonic hall. The first meeting in September, which comes on Labor day, will be omitted.

Mrs. Claude Bomier and daughters are visiting friends in Sturgeon Bay.

Household Suggestions

SHOE SHELF

It is much handier to keep your shoes on a shelf in the closet than to have them scattered on the floor and such a shelf need take up only a very little room.

PREPARING FOOD

Don't cook too much at a time, particularly in the summer when food is not easily kept.

LINOLEUM

Linoleum should be washed with soap and water and rinsed with clear water, then wiped dry. Only enough water should be used to remove the soil.

NEAT WOODWORK

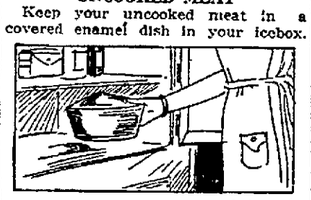

In keeping your woodwork neat, remember to remove spots as soon as they appear. If dirt and grease are allowed to remain it means that they will disappear only after severe measures.

TEMPORARY PLUG

To stop a leak until you can have the services of a plumber, mix whiting, yellow soap and a little water to a paste and cover the hole.

UNCOOKED MEAT

Keep your uncooked meat in a covered enamel dish in your icebox.

Never put it away wrapped in the paper in which the butcher delivered it.

SOAPING DISHWATER

For soaping dishwater you will find a wire soap shaker a good help and into it you can put the small pieces of soap that are too small to handle satisfactorily and that otherwise would be wasted.

LIGHTEN HOUSEWORK

During the summer months when housework should be reduced to the minimum, put away all bric-a-brac, ornaments and pieces of silver or brass you have on display, and do not burden yourself with the care of them.

MARKING LINENES

Write your name in indelible ink on linen tapes and sew on in an inconspicuous place on your linens if you do not care to mark the material itself.

AIR THE CLOSETS

All closets should be aired when the rooms are aired, and the floors should be kept clean and dusted.

GLASS JARS

If you keep your spices, tea, coffee and other supplies in glass jars they will not only be airtight but you can tell at a glance just how much you have on hand and keep properly stocked.

CARD PARTIES

The weekly card party and ice cream social given by the Ladies Aid society of St. Joseph church will be held Thursday afternoon in the parish hall. Schafkopf and plumpsack will be played.

WIN BASEBALL GAME

The Appleton high school team beat the Appleton Womans club team at baseball in Jones park on Monday evening by a 15 to 5 score in a six inning game. The game was short because it became too dark to continue to play.

Women Here Don't Spend Much Time Over Hot Ovens

Increased orders for pies, cakes, doughnuts and rich pastries at the local bakeries would indicate Appleton women believe in making their household duties as light as possible by buying most of their baked goods. Orders at the local bakeries have always been heavy, but according to the proprietors of the various baked goods shops, it is surprising the amount of baking which is sold daily.

Bread is of course one of the big features because many persons either haven't the time or consider themselves unable to make good bread. Buns, Parker house rolls, and poppy seed rolls have as big sales as bread. Sweet rolls are popular but the demand for them is not nearly so great as for plain buns and bread.

Fancy pastry, including the French pastries, have big sales and so much of the goods to be obtained in Appleton is so much like home baking that local housewives consider it unnecessary to spend much time over a hot oven. Although French pastry is more expensive than other types of cakes it is likewise especially delicious and Appleton housewives buy a great deal of it. It is noticed that a great deal of French pastry is ordered for parties and private entertaining.

Cakes, jelly rolls, cup cakes and drop cakes all are popular and cookies have big sales.

Great quantities of doughnuts are made in the local shops, sometimes as many as fifty dozen a day. Sweet doughnuts sell the best and are therefore made in the biggest numbers, but bread doughnuts are much in demand. Cream puffs and apple turnovers are fancy bits of baking and are in demand and local bakers say there is a big call for pies.

Of the coarser breads, whole wheat is the most popular but rye breads, graham and other mixtures are in demand. Whole wheat is recommended to a large extent by doctors and some persons have a constant order at their bakeries for the "wholesome" breads.

Peggy Joyce, Incognito, Is Appleton Guest

"Where is Peggy?" was the question of the hour at the Conway hotel on Monday evening when it was learned that Peggy Joyce, world famed actress, was in the party of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Parsons and was staying over night in Appleton. It was not until late in the evening that it became known that Miss Joyce was in the city and then many who were curious to see her in person lounged about the hotel lobby, anxious to see her as she came in or left the building.

It is said that it was through Miss Joyce's chauffeur that it became known that she was in the city. In registering the party at the hotel, Mr. Parsons included Miss Joyce as one of her daughters at her request, since she did not wish to have it known that she was here. The Parsons party and Clyde Bentam of Chicago left Tuesday morning for Eagle River where they will spend some time at one of the resorts. They will spend the night in Appleton again on their return.

MRS. ZUEHLKE AND BOYS VISIT NORTHERN CAMPS

WANTS TO HELP OTHER WOMEN

Grateful for Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill. — "I am willing to write to any girl or woman who is suffering from the troubles I had before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back always ached, so I could not go about my housework, and I had other troubles from weakness. I was this way for years, then my sister-in-law took the Vegetable Compound and recommended it to me. In the time I have been taking it, it has done wonders for me. I keep house and am able to do lots of work besides."—Mrs. Helen Sevcik, 2711 Thomas St., Chicago, Ill.

Women suffering from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, pains, bearing-down feelings and weakness should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Not only is the worth of this splendid medicine shown by such cases as this, but for nearly fifty years this same sort of experience has been reported by thousands of women.

Mrs. Sevcik is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from such troubles, and answer any questions they may like to ask.

District C. E. Meeting To Be In Kaukauna

Miss Marie Greunke and Miss Mary Ellen Bond have been elected delegates from the local Christian Endeavor society of the Presbyterian church to the convention of the Green Bay district of the organization which will open in Kaukauna Friday evening Aug. 31. The sessions will close Sunday night, Sept. 2.

As the convention is so close to Appleton a number of young people will attend the meeting each day. Miss Lucille Haferbecker is chairman of the committee to arrange for groups to attend the convention. Persons having automobiles who care to take delegates over are asked to notify Miss Haferbecker.

Among the speakers will be A. A. Alexander, president of the district organization.

Distinguished Furniture For Your Dining Room

"THE WOLLATON"

The design of this interesting group follows the style of the 17th century English furniture of the Jacobean period, and has been called "The Wollaton" because some of the earliest examples of the Jacobean style are in Wollaton Hall in Nottinghamshire.

This furniture comes from Grand Rapids, the product of a factory which has been creating worthy furniture for American homes for better than a half century.

These pieces, while not elaborate, are very well made and handsomely finished.

The character of the turning is a decorative detail of interest. The doors of the cabinet have sunken panels into which are laid very choice walnut figures, contributing much to the rich effect. The drawer faces are laid with fiddle back walnut, a striking figure.

We invite you to come in and inspect this furniture, as a representative suite worthy in character but moderate in price.

Actress Finds Sickness Is Blessing In Disguise

New York—The pluckiest, cheerlest, games and I do believe the prettiest business woman in this city is Dorothea Antel.

For more than a year she has been an invalid, but she has never lost her cheery smile that brings her fascinating dimples into view, nor has her courage wavered. Now she is building up a bedside agency for magazines she hopes will make her independent and keep the rent money coming in.

"I may even look upon this sickness as a blessing in disguise," she says, "for I'm going to hustle, even if I have to do it on my back."

Dorothea used to earn her living as an actress until a fall down a flight of stairs injured her spine and shattered all hopes of becoming a Bernhardt.

Then followed the hospital sentence, the suffering, the many expenses and then the dark time financially. And all the time Dorothea longed for her own home.

"You get so discouraged at times," she explains, "with nothing of your own around, only scrubbed walls and bare floors. So I decided to pull myself together and get out of it some way.

"I hired a cheerful Irish girl who acts as my secretary and nurse and we moved into this tiny apartment she found. I'm handy with a needle as every actress is, and I soon had all these laces and ribbons and pink fixings concocted from some old costumes. A pink, feminine looking room is so much more cheerful to lie awake in at night than the more practical type.

"And during the day, when I feel best, I call up my old friends and try to interest them in letting me handle their magazine subscriptions for them. I've done very well so far and hope to have a thriving business in time, because, you see, I'm going to give good service."

LAWN PARTY FOR GREEN BAY GIRL

Miss Lorraine Knapstein Entertains In Honor Of Bride-to-be

Special to the Post-Crescent

New London— The Misses Lorraine Knapstein, Caroline Oestreich, Lorena Oestreich and Melda Pelzer were hostesses at a lawn party at the Knapstein home on Saturday afternoon. Miss Genevieve Nejedlo of Green Bay was the guest of honor and the event was in recognition of her approching marriage to Leo Reel of this city. A three course luncheon was served at tables set on the lawn and the trees and shrubbery formed an attractive background for the color scheme of yellow and white carried out in an abundance of flowers. The guests were Mesdames Edward Zillmer, Bernard Cooke, Ben Hartquist, Carlton Reuter and Arthur Cuff, and the Misses Gladys Williams, Florence O'Brien, Nita Cuff, Ismae Stofer, Irene Harris and Cordelle Freiburger of New London, and Miss Genevieve Nejedlo of Green Bay.

Miss Irma Krause of Appleton spent the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Krause.

Miss Frances Butler and her mother Mrs. P. Butler spent Saturday in Appleton.

The Misses Elizabeth Arndt and Edith Dexter spent Sunday at Wausau.

Miss Eleanor Vaughn and Miss Lucille Wochinski were Saturday visitors in Appleton.

Mrs. James Van Roy of Stevens Point drove to New London Saturday with Mrs. Ross Dawson and three children who have spent several days in Stevens Point. Gregory Charlesworth accompanied them.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bartell of Wautoma and Walter Stratton who is spending the summer at the Bartell home, were weekend guests of Mrs. Bartell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ellison Stratton.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Vincent, Herbert Schroeder and Walter Davis attended the Stevens Point fair last week.

Dr. J. H. Tippett of Appleton conducted services at the Methodist church on Sunday morning and at Stephensville in the afternoon.

Kermit Hart spent Sunday with the boy scouts at Camp Onaway on the Chain-o'-Lakes. He reports that the boys are enjoying their vacation and were awarded first prize for tent inspection on Sunday morning.

O. P. Cuff spent the weekend with his family at Hortonia.

Joseph and James Bucholtz of Clintonville spent Saturday at the L. A. Vaughn home on their way to Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Ames and daughter Phyllis of West Allis are guests at the Herman Ladwig home. Miss Esther Manske who had been visiting at the Ames home returned to New London with them.

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Lowell and son and Miss Eleanor Vaughn spent Sunday at Oshkosh.

August and Fred Jackish of Oshkosh were weekend guests in the Charles Pasch home.

Dr. J. W. Monsted's new office building on North Water-st. is rapidly nearing completion and the office rooms on the second floor will be ready for occupancy about the first of September. The second floor will be divided into two suites of four rooms each, the north suite to be used as dental parlors by Dr. E. Lyon and the south one to be occupied by Dr. Monsted. The operating rooms are finished in white enamel and are plentifully supplied with natural light. The waiting rooms are being finished in oak. Dr. Lyon expects to take a course in the use of X-ray machines before taking up his office residence in the new building.

WEDDINGS AMONG COUNTY'S PEOPLE

MALDEWIN-STEMBERG

Hortonville—The marriage of Miss Meta Maldewin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Maldewin, to Leonard Steinberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Steinberg, took place at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents. The attendants were Esther Maldewin, sister of the bride, and Rinehart Steinberg, brother of the bridegroom. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. E. Boettcher. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to immediate relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Steinberg will make their home here.

BODOH-COLLAR

The marriage of Miss Della Bodoh, daughter of Mrs. J. Bodoh of New London to George L. Collar, Hortonville occurred at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at SS. Peter and Paul church, Hortonville. The Rev J Bothan performed the ceremony. The couple was attended by Miss Florence Miller and Milton Collar. Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother. They will reside at Hortonville.

CONCERT FOLLOWS STONE LAYING AT TRINITY SCHOOL

Nearly 1,000 Persons Witness Laying Of Cornerstone At Kaukauna Sunday

Kaukauna—Between eight and nine hundred people were present at the Sunday services and ceremonies of the laying of the cornerstone of the new $45,000 Trinity Lutheran graded school Sunday morning. Approximately 1,000 persons were served at dinner and supper which was prepared by the ladies of the church. The usual Sunday morning services in German and English languages were conducted with the cornerstone laying ceremony. The sermons were preached by the Rev. E. Benjamin Schlueter, pastor of Grace Lutheran church, Oshkosh. The parish pastor the Rev. Paul Oehlert, was to have preached the sermon but could not, due to the fact that he returned only a few days ago from the hospital where he submitted to operations on his nose and throat. The pastor, however took charge of the ceremonies at the new school house.

The Lyra orchestra of the church opened with an instrumental prelude and accompanied the congregation in its singing. A fine concert also was given during the afternoon and evening to an appreciative audience. The mixed choir took part in the services and assisted in the concert of the afternoon and evening.

It is hoped that the new school will be completed by the first part of 1924. The building has four classrooms and provides for about 175 pupils. The last school year closed with an enrollment of 66 children. Among those present from out of town were delegations from the congregations in Clintonville, Morrison and neighboring towns besides the following individuals: The Rev. and Mrs. John Reuschel, Dundas; the Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Schrader of Buffalo, Minn.

REFORMED CHURCH MISSION CONFERENCE IS IN SESSION

Kaukauna—The eighth annual missionary conference of the Sheboygan classis of the the Reformed church began Monday at the Mission house near Sheboygan. The conference will be in session until next Sunday evening. While the convention this year will be attended by a record number of delegates from all over the district Kaukauna will be represented by only a few compared with its usual number. Those attending the conference are Mr. and Mrs. William Klumb, Jr. and their children, Alfred, Wilma and Marion. The Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Worthman, Mrs. Paul tOt, Mrs. George Arning, Mrs. G. Peterson, the Misses Esther Mau, Lillian Glenzer, Lorinda Hinkle, Leone Wenzel.

Kaukauna will not be represented on the program although Mr. and Mrs. Klumb are members of the executive committee. More than 300 people are expected for the week. Among the speakers will be the Rev. V. V. Casselman, chairman of the missionary committee of the Reformed churches in the United States. Many of the local congregation will attend the conference for the weekend sessions.

GROCERY COMPANY MOVES TO RECONSTRUCTED STORE

Kaukauna—The Avenue Grocery company opened its grocery store for business Tuesday in the rebuilt structure formerly occupied by the Julius J. Martens Co. The building was destroyed more than a year ago by fire. N. M. Haupt, proprietor of the store, closed his old business on Main-ave and Seventh-st Monday evening and moved the remainder of his stock to the new location. The former grocery will be occupied immediately by Kalupa's bakery. Reconstruction of the dry goods department of the new building is still going on and it probably will be completed in time for an opening this fall. The employees of the Avenue company who will work in the new store are Misses Viola Wolf, Agnes Buchberger, Dorothy Paschen and Gordon Nettekoven, Roman Haupt and Francis Robideau.

DELEGATES RETURN

Kaukauna—Mrs. F. M. Schmidt and Miss Rose Vandenbrook returned Saturday evening from Superior where they attended the annual state convention of the Womars Auxiliary to the American Legion. The ladies spent Saturday in Duluth, Minn. Edward Haas and Wm Reens were the local delegates to the legion convention which was in session in the same city last week.

DR. TANNER TO RETURN FOR HOMECOMING WEEK

Kaukauna—Mayor C E Raught received word Monday morning that Dr. H B Tanner, former resident of Kaukauna, with his wife and daughter and his son and his wife left by automobile to arrive in the Electric City in time for the homecoming celebration next week. Mr. Tanner lived here 15 years ago. Mr. Tanner now lives in Eastland, Tex. Mr. and Mrs. Raught will be prepared to receive the old timers as soon they are scheduled to "hark" with the mayor during their visit here.

Bill's Chicks Made Soup For Thief's Dinner

Special to Post-Crescent

Kaukauna—The police department has been asked to do a little detective work in connection with the loss of a few good sized chickens and a score or so of young spring chickens which disappeared mysteriously Sunday evening from the chicken coop of William Alger who lives near the Moloch plant. It is plain that the "chix" were stolen since the windows of the coop were broken and entrance evidently was gained by that means.

Social Items

Kaukauna—The second degree Loyal Order of Moose legion will hold a picnic at the municipal playgrounds next Sunday afternoon, Aug. 26. A regular meeting will be held at Eagle hall at 1 o'clock. Candidates will be initiated. All candidates are expected to be at Eagle hall at 2:30. Basket lunches will be furnished by the Ladies of Moosheart Legion. Beginning, Thursday, Sept. 6, regular meetings of the Ladies auxiliary, which have been held once a month during the summer, will be held every two weeks. The Sept. 6 meeting will be followed by a birthday party, the ladies whose birthday anniversaries occurred during August acting as hostesses.

A surprise birthday party was tendered Martin Heindl at his home, town of Kaukauna, two miles out of the city, Sunday afternoon. Sixty-one guests were present. The afternoon was spent in playing cards and in a "deer" hunt which was engaged in by part of the group. Supper was served at 4:30. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Albrecht of Appleton, were out of town guests.

Those from the city who attended were the Rev. and Mrs. E. L. Worthman, William Klumb, Jr., Mrs. A. Glenzer, Mrs. A. Seifert.

FAMILY GATHERING AT BEAR CREEK HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller And Descendants Gather For Reunion

Special to Post-Crescent

Bear Creek — Back in 1854 after a voyage of forty-seven days on the ocean, there landed on the shores of America together with many other immigrants of German descent, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller. They went directly to Dodge co Wisconsin. After a short stay of two months they walked over one hundred miles to Bear Creek. The mother carried a baby in her arms and another on her back and at night they slept under a wagon which carried all their worldly goods.

Last Sunday there was another pilgrimage to the same old homestead to which Charles Miller had taken his family over 69 years ago. This time however there were in all fifty-six people coming from east and west north and south. Coming in automobiles the pilgrimage last Sunday was a strange contrast to the traveling of the pioneer settler over a half century ago. All the visitors were descendants of Charles Miller. It was a reunion of the family and the first gathering of these relatives for many years.

Each visitor contributed liberally in food which had been prepared for the picnic dinner and lunch and the sumptuous feasting at this occasion was contrasted to the "johnnycake" made of cornmeal which was the staff of life to the early pioneer family which came penniless to Bear Creek to make their home.

The old homestead, on which Mrs. Edward Miller and family now reside, was chosen as the gathering place because it is most centrally located. Following were among those present at the reunion:

Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Schultz and family, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Meidam and son Chester, Mr. and Mrs. William Giese and family of Antigo; Mr. and Mrs. William Hills of Green Bay, Harlon La Reau, Charles La Reau of Green Bay; Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Strehlow and children Mabel, Nora, Lillian and Louis, Mr. and Mrs. Moritz Heisinger, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee and family of Omro; William J. Miller, Marie Laehn and Alvina L. Ahl of Appleton; Mr. and Mrs. Julius Heisinger of Oconto, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Russell of Clintonville, Mrs. Carrie Borchardt, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Schoenheide and children Loretta, Arthur and Harvey, William Miller of the town and Bear Creek, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller and children Walter, Herbert and Bertha of Bear Creek, Lulu Vaughn of Manawa.

START WORK ON NEW TRUNK HIGHWAY THROUGH CICERO

Special to Post-Crescent

Cicero—Work has been started on the trunk highway from Clintonville to Green Bay, through Nichols and the town of Cicero. Crews of men are working with teams, wagons and scrapers grading and graveling the right-of-way.

An ice cream social was held at the Oak Leaf school. About $10 was realized after payment of expenses.

A mission festival was held in Proehl's grove at Cicero.

A number of Cicero people held a picnic at the school grounds in District No. 5, on Highway 47 on Sunday.

Mrs. George Tubbs' is ill at her home.

Walter Sherman is hauling gravel to build a new silo on his farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Orvil Johnston and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Word left Sunday for northern Wisconsin to pick blackberries.

Mr. and Mrs. William Abel and family of Merrill, were guests of Mr. Abel's parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Abel, and Mrs. Abel's sister, Mrs. August Warner.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Spaulding are spending two weeks at Marion, Amherst Junction and Antigo.

Have You Piles?

Then You Have Something to Learn

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy. His prescription, HEM-ROID, is now sold by all druggists. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 1000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent, and then decided it should be sold under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from Schlintz Bros. today. It has given safe and lasting relief to thousands and should do the same for you—it seldom fails.

NORTH TIER OF COUNTY NEEDS A STATE HIGHWAY

Highway Commissioner Brusewitz Advances Suggestions For New Road

The most needed new state highway for development of the resources of Outagamie-co, in the opinion of A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner, is a direct route from Clintonville in Waupaca-co to Green Bay in Brown-co.

Mr. Brusewitz also looked with favor upon designating the Brickyard-rd to Menasha and Neenah as a state highway, and further commended the same respect to the Darboy-rd to connect with highway 114.

He laid greatest emphasis, however, upon the routing of a state highway in the northern part of the county.

"The southern part of the county," he said, "is fairly well taken care of We have highway 15 going south and northeast, we have 19 going east and west, we have 122 and 39 to New London and we have 47 leading toward the north. A state highway is now needed in the northern part of the county to develop the farming community there. This section has but one railroad. A well improved road would enhance the value of the farm property and add to the prosperity of the farmer.

ROAD TO MARKETS

"A road in this part of the county would provide a more direct route to the markets at Green Bay and Clintonville. To reach Green Bay many farmers are now obliged to drive first to Bonduel or to Black Creek. A state road here would also be a benefit to the farmers in the southern part of Shawano-co.

For years both Clintonville and Green Bay have worked to have a state highway routed to connect the two points. The route suggested by Mr. Brusewitz differs but slightly from that advocated by Clintonville It would, however, give Outagamie-co four more miles of road and four miles of county line road that are not included in the Clintonville plan.

PASS THROUGH COUNTY

Instead of routing the highway east from Clintonville through Waupaca-co. Mr. Brusewitz proposes that the road lead south from Clintonville for a mile and a half until its strikes the county line The route would then proceed on the county line for four miles and then enter Outagamie co and proceed east nine miles through Leeman; thence south a half mile and again east nine miles through Leeman; thence south a half mile and again east for three miles through Nichols until the route strikes state highway 47. After a turn to the south for a half mile, the road would then proceed east on the two mile road until 16 miles hence it strikes highway 16 in Brown-co. The entire route would be about 42 miles long.

A new state highway in the southeastern part of the county would also be benefit to the farm communities and to traffic, Mr. Brusewitz believes. A new state highway should connect with highway 114 which leads from Hilbert to Menasha via the lake shore, he said. This route should follow Maple Grove-st, the Darboy-rd and the county line until it strikes county trunk line N going to Kaukauna. The route would then proceed south to connect with highway 114. This would connect this county with Hilbert and Chilton as well as Forest Junction and Brillion.

Referring to the proposed highway in the northern part of the county, Mr. Brusewitz said it would some day be a connecting link with a new state road to Stevens Point and Wausau.

BIG "JULIE," VETERAN ELEPHANT WITH THE SPARKS CIRCUS.

Big "Julie" is coming to Appleton next Friday with the Sparks because she wants to. Unlike the other members of the elephant herds with the big show, Julie's trouping is not compulsory. Last season she celebrated her fiftieth anniversary as a circus performer and Manager Charles Sparks decided that the faithful giant had earned a rest. She was scheduled to enjoy a life of ease at the winter quarters of the circus during her remaining years.

But when the circus was preparing to begin its tour of the country again this year, it became apparent that "Julie" had some decided ideas of her own concerning retirement. She figured that the time had not arrived for any such procedure and that she would go along too, or know the reason why.

Not until the elephant cars of the circus trains were being loaded with their ponderous passengers, did "Julie's" circus fever reach its highest pitch, however. And then she started something. Crashing the door of the elephant house by throwing her tremendous weight against it, she bolted for the cars and took her place with the remaining elephants to be loaded

Mr Sparks who happened to be present, quickly realized the significance of "Julie's" mad rush for the trains. Turning to Lewis Reed, the elephant superintendent, he said: "It's the lure of the circus—Bring "Julie" along."

And "Julie" came. You'll see her leading the elephants in the Big Street Pageant on circus day. The parade this season is particularly effective in respect to the harmonizing of colors and richness of equipment. With several hundred people, hundreds of beautiful horses and many open cages of wild animals, the procession will leave the circus grounds at 10:30 A. M Three brass bands and two steam calliopes will enliven this feature. The performances, recently augmented by many of Europe's greatest circus acts will begin promptly at 2 and 8 P. M. The public will be admitted one hour earlier to visit the famous Sparks Menagerie Seats may be secured at Schlintz Bros. drug store on circus day at the same price charged at the show grounds.

SHARP INCREASE IN USE OF PULPWOOD

Washington, D. C.—The department of commerce announces that according to preliminary statistics compiled by the bureau of census, acting in cooperation with the Forest Service United States Department of Agriculture, the total consumption of pulpwood was 5,548,842 cords by 241 mills in 1922 as against 4,557,179 cords by 254 mills in 1921. The consumption of wood in 1922 increased 21.8 per cent compared with the previous year, but decreased 9.2 per cent compared with the consumption for 1920, which year was the most active of record in the industry.

More than 54 per cent of the wood consumed in 1922 was spruce. Hemlock and yellow pine were next in importance, supplying 16.1 per cent and 6.7 per cent, respectively, of the total quantity of pulp wood used in that year.

The production of wood pulp was 3,521,644 short tons in 1922 compared with 2,575,601 tons in 1921. Of the total amount in 1922, 1,483,787 tons were produced by the mechanical process, 1,374,319 tons by the sulphite process, 419,557 tons by the soda process, and 243,681 tons by the sulphate process.

Maine, Wisconsin and New York are the leading states in this industry. In 1922 these three states reported 56 8 per cent of the total consumption of pulp wood and 59.7 per cent of the total production of wood pulp.

Click, Click, Click, Go the Knitting Needles

Knitting has taken a firm hold upon the women of America and no matter where you go, you are sure to find them with their wool and needles.

Time flies and talk flows freely under the fascinating influence of the click, click of the knitting needles.

The knitted sweater especially has become an essential part of the well dressed woman's wardrobe, and more than any other garment it allows the expression of color and individuality which every woman insists on having.

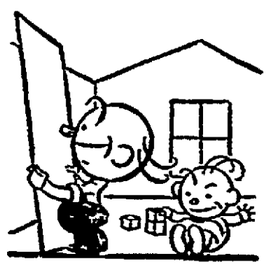

This Bureau has for free distribution a booklet on knitting and crocheting prepared by the Fleisher Yarn Company. It contains instructions for the beginner, as well as a number of fashionable models for the experienced knitter.

Send for your copy of this booklet today. There is no charge except two cents in stamps for return postage.

DANGEROUS BRIDGES ON HIGHWAY NO. 15

Motorists Complain Over Dangerous Crossings Near North Fond du Lac

Appleton automobile drivers frequently have complained over the extremely narrow bridges on Highway 15 near North Fond du Lac, declaring they are menaces to safety. Recently there have been several accidents on these narrow crossings. The approaches are in poor shape and the bridges themselves are rough.

In Oshkosh the motorists are protesting as vehemently as in Appleton. It is possible that if motorists bring sufficient pressure on state highway officials that the bridges can be widened in order to promote safety.

The Oshkosh Northwestern recently printed the following article on the two bridges:

"Oshkosh motorists having occasion to go to Fond du Lac have called attention to a dangerous condition existing in an extremely narrow bridge—in fact two of them—on Highway 15, just outside of North Fond du Lac. A local motorist, who had a close call in being nearly crowded off one of those bridges Sunday night, added his voice to the protests of several other auto owners in this vicinity, this morning, questioning why Fond du Lac county can not see the necessity of replacing these old bridges with wider and safer structures.

He said: "There is a dangerous condition existing in those bridges that should be remedied Being familiar with their width and condition, I always take them slowly, but when I was returning home last night and was just about on the second bridge, another motorist, apparently not acquainted with the structure, swung onto the bridge from the opposite direction and, misjudging its size and in the glare of headlights and all, we came as close to a serious accident as I care to approach. Those bridges should be widened. Why wait until a bad accident occurs?"

According to highway officials, this section of Highway 15 is a federal aid road job for which no money has been made available by the federal highway funds

And when you have a little time we would like to have you stop in and see them,—try them on too and see how easily and perfectly you can be fitted,—feel the excellence of the fabrics,—and note how moderately our clothes are priced.

ON THE SCREEN

DOROTHY GISH, VIVID DANCER IN "BRIGHT SHAWL"

Dorothy Gish is doing a Spanish dance at the Elite theater this week in the Richard Barthelmess picture, "The Bright Shawl," that is one of the most delightful features of this fascinating romance of the days of Spanish domination in Cuba.

It is a revelation of the versatility of this very talented young actress, who, in a perfumed atmosphere of old Havana, gives the dancing number with a grace and charm that captivates all who see it.

She is seen in the tremendously emotional role of La Clavel, who has all Havana worshipping at her feet. And she figures in a most poignant and tragic romance with a young American (Richard Barthelmess) who is adventuring in Cuba on the side of the patriots conspiring against the Spanish crown.

La Clavel is undoubtedly the most vivid of the many vivid delinections Miss Gish has given the screen.

"The Bright Shawl" is a John S. Robertson production, adapted by Edmund Goulding from Joseph Hergesheimer's famous novel and presented by Inspiration Pictures, Inc., as a First National attraction.

Dance at Valley Queen, 12 Corners, Friday, Aug. 24th.

THE YELLOW SEVEN.

The Bronze Jar

"Morning, Pennington," said the Commissioner. "Anything fresh?"

The man with the peculiar eyes came in languidly.

"Mrs. Viney's freshest thing I've seen this morning," he admitted.

"Don't be a fool," recommended Monica, flushing. She held the animal up for inspection. "Isn't he sweet? Mr. Dawson sent him down from Ketatan."

"What are you going to call it?"

Monica's forehead wrinkled prettily.

"Peter'" she declared with sudden emphasis.

"That's my name."

The Commissioner swung round in his chair and smiled.

Monica rose suddenly and made for the door. On the threshold she stopped and glanced back over her shoulder.

"Are you going to be frightfully busy, Mr. Pennington?" she asked. "Because I've thousands of things to talk to you about when John's finished with you."

Pennington turned presently and saw her brother regarding him curiously.

"I imagine you want to marry Monica?" bluntly.

Pennington's eyes that were set like an Oriental's on his youthful countenance, disappeared behind their diagonal slits.

"And supposing I do?"

There was something in the ring of his voice that suggested he feared opposition on the part of the Commissioner of Police from his chair and dropped both hands on the younger man's shoulders.

"Pennington, old son," he declared, "there's nothing on this earth that I'd like better."

"Thanks," said the other huskily. "What are my chances, d'you think?"

"If you ask me my opinion, I should say you've as much likelihood of being successful as any man on the island. Why don't you ask her—now?"

Pennington waved a hand in front of him as if to dispel a mist that had suddenly arisen.

"You sent for me because your territory was over-run by the Yellow Seven gang. The instant I embarked on my investigations, I realized that their leader — Chai-Hung was the toughest nut I had yet set out to crack. It was after I was certain of my feelings toward your sister that I swore to myself never to submit my proposal until I had finally run Chai-Hung to earth."

Hewitt stood stroking his smooth black hair.

"Well," he declared. "You accomplished what you set out to do. You caught Chai-Hung in his own trap. The Governor thanked you personally. What more d'you want?"

Pennington dropped wearily into a chair.

"I'm not satisfied," he told him. "My contract was to get the blighter dead or alive. I did neither. I couldn't. I had a horde of his ruffians at my heels and young Brabazon to get out of the scrape into which he'd tumbled. Brabazon took my pistol and kept 'em off, while I threw Chai-Hung into the death-chamber. It was full of poisonous fumes, I'll admit, and I doubt if a fly could have lived in it; but I'd have given everything I possessed to see that villainous face composed for its last sleep."

"You ignore the importance of circumstantial evidence," said Hewitt. "That was a month ago. There hasn't been a single outrage since. And every Chinaman on the island went into mourning. That's good enough for me, and it ought to be good enough for you."

"Ah!" commented Chinese Pennington, still unconvinced. "Have you any idea where they buried him?"

The Commissioner shook his head.

"Have you?"

"No. That's the devil of it. I've been wandering from place to place, in my usual elaborate disguise, trying to find out. Don't you see my point?"

Hewitt sat back in his chair.

"It's deuced odd," he admitted.

"Look at it another way," pursued Pennington. "Chai-Hung was a celebrity. He had an immense following. Wouldn't you think they'd stick up a monument over his last resting-place instead of keeping the whole affair a dead secret?"

The Commissioner brought both hands on to the arms of his chair.

"I don't quite know what to think," he said slowly. "If Chai-Hung's dead, as I honestly believe he is, there's precious little left to worry about. On the other hand, if he managed somehow to get out of the death-trap he'd set for Brabazon—it's a damned serious proposition." He rose to his feet and began pacing the room. "The responsibility of my position here at this moment's getting on my nerves," he complained presently. "I can't help realizing that the safety of every white man, woman and child depends on the accuracy of my deductions with regard to these gang-murders."

"In which case," put in Pennington quietly, "wouldn't it be better to make sure?"

Hewitt swung round on his heel.

"How?" he demanded.

"Get in touch with his agent—Lien-Yin. Tell him that at all costs he must furnish you with every proof that Chai Hung is dead."

The Commissioner pressed the bell.

"It's a hell of a nuisance," he announced somewhat testily, "and I'm only going through with it for your sake—and Monica's."

Pennington closed the door after him and strolled toward where Mrs. Viney was sitting, the Siamese cat curled up fast asleep in her lap. A chair—a long cane affair, with cushions in chintz covers—was drawn up so closely that its protruding arms almost touched hers. The very proximity of the thing thrilled him and he accepted the invitation it offered.

"You wanted to talk to me," he ventured at length.

The girl regarded him thoughtfully.

"Yes," she admitted. "I want you to tell me what I ought to do. It seems so dreadful not to have some definite object in life. It's been borne upon me rather forcibly lately that I'm no real use to anybody. I'm supposed to be keeping house for my brother. He looked after himself very well before I came out. The truth is—I'd nowhere else to go. I interfere with his work; he's perpetually anxious for my safety, and he's seriously exercised as to my future." She picked up her fan and yawned behind it. "Things can't go on like this forever, can they?"

"I suppose not," agreed Pennington, inwardly cursing his luck that prevented him voicing what to him, at that moment, was an amazingly simple solution to the difficulty.

"There's only one thing for it," continued Monica desperately. "I've got to get married!"

Pennington crimsoned to the roots of his ruffled hair.

"Married'" he echoed blankly.

"I suppose you're going to tell me that I've had one husband already, and ought to be satisfied with that."

"I wasn't."

"Swear to me that you didn't even think it."

"I swear," said Pennington, recovering himself somewhat. "To tell the unvarnished truth, I was wondering—"

"—Who the victim was to be! That's just what I wanted to talk to you about. I've received a proposal of marriage."

She paused to observe the effect of her statement upon her hearer, but she could only see the few unruly hairs that sprouted up at the back of his head, just where the irregular parting ended.

"Verbal?" he inquired with exaggerated disinterestedness.

"No, in writing. Would you like to see it?"

"Good Lord, no!"

He turned toward her, his boyish face twisted into an expression of horrified amazement.

"Oh, I wouldn't have shown it to any ordinary man. You see, I don't regard you as an ordinary being."

"What's his name?" asked Pennington grimly.

"It begins with a "D'," she volunteered wickedly.

"Dawson!"

"I didn't say it was Dawson!" She looked down at her fingers. "Would you advise me to marry him?" she continued innocently.

"Great heavens, Mrs. Viney! Why do you ask me that? Why not consult your brother, a woman friend, anyone but me?"

Thirty seconds later, the brainstorm had passed and he found himself on the threshold of his own room in the Commissioner's bungalow.

As he slammed the door after him, the only thing that came to offer consolation was the Siamese kitten. It had somehow crept in before him and he almost trod on it before he was aware that it was there. He rescued it gently and placed it on the folded blanket at the foot of his bed.

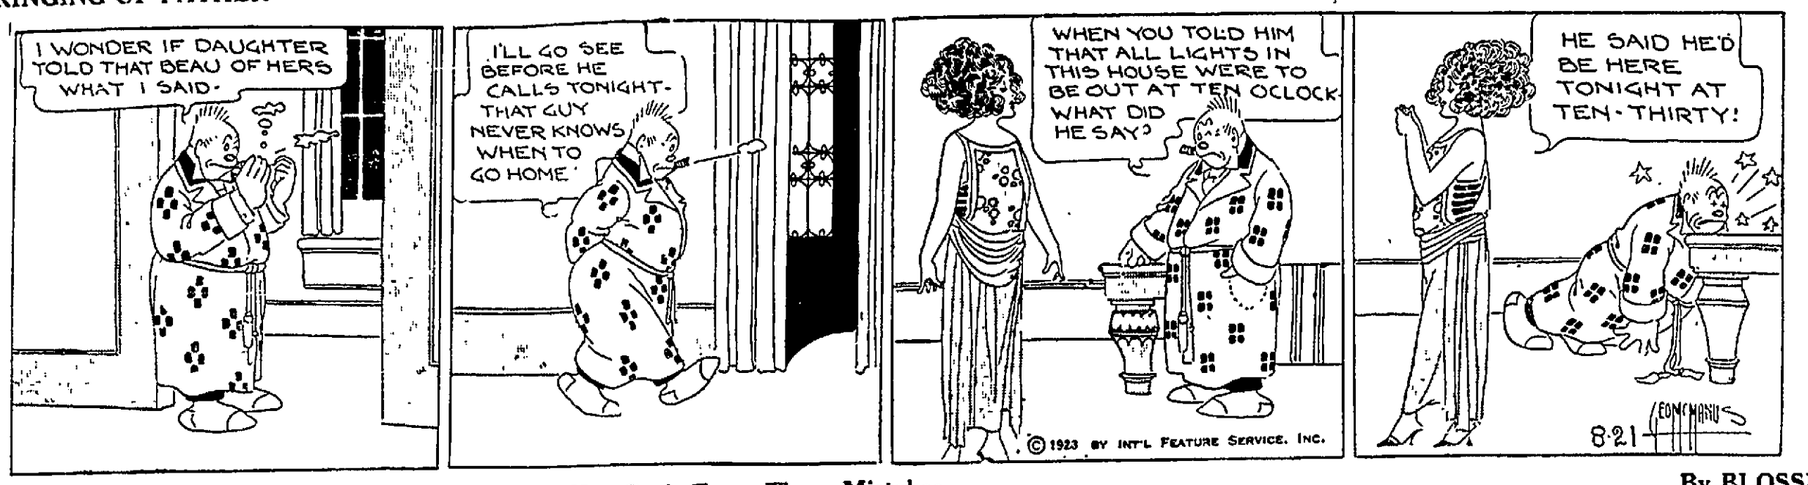

Pennington held a roving commission. The extraordinary accident of birth had condemned him to go through life with two diagonal slits for eyes, had been mainly responsible for the usual career he had selected. When occasion demanded, he assumed the guise of a half-caste trader, of a Chinese shop-keeper, a coolie, or even a mandarin. And in his jungle wanderings, the natives who dubbed him "he who sees in the dark," had endowed him also with sundry other powers.

BODY LINES NOW RANKS FIRST AS CAR SELLING TALK

Cars Are Pretty Much Alike In Mechanical Details And Style Now In Demand

What sells an automobile nowadays?

In former days it used to be performance—speed, power and capacity of the engine to hold up under any circumstance, that caused a prospect to purchase a motor car.

Until recently, with the engine developed as highly as engineers could bring it, the salesman stressed its perfect qualities and, through it, the economies enjoyed by the buyer. For economy and comfort were the essentials sought in the last few years among motor car buyers.

Now, however, comes another trend in automobile purchasing. If the observance of salesmen and automotive engineers are taken as criterion, beauty of line and whatever new fad and fangle they can contrive will sell their automobiles, for the coming season at least.

INDIVIDUALITY SOUGHT

Of course, the elements of economy and comfort are still in demand and they are being improved so far as possible by all manufacturers. But since these have already been resolved almost to equal terms, in accordance with price and class, the builders have begun to seek other points about which they could make their products individual.

Thus, Buick comes out with four-wheel brakes, Hupmobile with a longer chassis, Studebaker with improvements in fittings and others with similar advancements in design. In no case, not even that of Buick is the innovation to be considered remarkable.

Even greater in importance from the sales viewpoint, is the general trend toward supremacy in beauty. Since all mechanical points are practically equal, car for car, what could be more pleasing to the prospect than a "knock-out" of a car?

Auto competition rests nowadays on this talking point, backed up by the efforts of the manufacturers to make it good. The new cars certainly are beautiful, if nothing else can be said of them—although they have certain other individual advantages that make them survive in the face of the hardest competition.

Kaukauna Seethes With Excitement Over Homecoming Week

Kaukauna is almost seething with excitment over the week of homecoming from Aug. 27 to Sept. 1, when thousands of former residents and their friends will come back to the city to renew friendships and visit familiar places. The outstanding feature of Homecoming week is the pageant which is to be presented on a huge open air stage on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. This pageant will picture in dramatic detail the stirring days of two and three hundred years ago when the first white explorers visited the Fox river valley, held their parlays with the Indians and laid the foundations for the great civilization which followed.

But homecoming will not be all pageant, although that is the big feature and is expected to be the largest drawing card. The entire city will put on its Sunday go-to-meeting clothes and will extend a warm invitation to old friend and stranger alike, inviting them all to bask in its hospitality.

An event of such interest and importance would stir up great interest in larger cities than Kaukauna, so it is not surprising that Kaukauna people are excited over the program. There is a spirit of cooperation in the air which assures success to the big venture, with men and women of every section and of every degree working together to make homecoming week one of the "red letter" periods in Kaukauna's already glorious history.

Upwards of 300 people are rehearsing for the pageant. Care was given to selecting those most familiar from past experiences with public speaking and stage work. The rehearsals are under the direction of Howard Smith, Springfield, Mass., a young man of wide reputation in such work. Mr. Smith has been on the ground for the past three weeks giving the details his personal supervision and arranging preliminaries as provided for by the author of the pageant, Thomas Wood Stevens, of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburg, Pa., who is well known throughout the east and middle west as a writer of historical pageants. Mr. Stevens formerly was a lecturer on artistry at the University of Wisconsin and is now connected in an important capacity with Carnegie institute. He has had wide experience at writing and staging pageants. Notable among his works are "The Great Pageant of the Northwest,"—the Centennial Pageant at St. Louis, Mo., the "Virginia Pageant" at Richmond, Va., and others of equal importance and magnitude. Mr. Stevens spent a week in Kaukauna looking up early history preparatory to writing the local pageant and he said he regarded Kaukauna as highly favored by historic atmosphere and scenic advantages which count so much in pageantry.

"The pageant at Kaukauna will not be a carnival, nor a parade, nor a Klihmess, nor a pantomime," Mr. Stevens said. "It will be a sweeping drama of heroic action, played in a great natural theater under the stars. It's story will be the story of this land from the Mound Builders to the founders of the present city; its characters will include the great Black Gown, Pere Marquette, La Salle, the explorer of the Mississippi, Chief Pontiac, the great figures of the fur trade and the early history of Wisconsin; Chief Red Bird, Crooks, Doty, Reaume, Grignon and other early pioneers, French settlers, and finally the builders of the first settlement."

In addition to Stevens and Smith, the committee in charge of the pageant arrangements has contracted at a considerable expense with Donald Robertson, artistic director of the Chicago Civic Theater association, to take a prominent part in the dramatic production during the three days of pageantry. He will assume the character of "The Prophet." In speaking of Mr. Robertson, Charles Collins, dramatic critic of the Chicago Evening Post, says:

For many years Donald Robertson has been closely identified with Chicago's cultural growth. In the field of the theater he is not merely a representative, he is a pastmaster. His career is memorable for the fidelity and zeal with which he has followed the vision of a free theater, untrammeled by commercial considerations and devoted to the highest and finest ideals of dramatic literature. He can point to seventeen years of creative work in Chicago, and the sum of his achievements is impressive in retrospect. He has staged fifty-one plays and has acted leading roles in thirty-five of them, the list being notable and unusual. He has for example, staged and acted in: "The Miser," "The Learned Ladies," and "Tartuffe" by Moliere; "Torquato Tasso" by Goethe; "The Mayor of Zalamea" by Calderon; "Comus" by Milton; "A Curious Accident" by Goldoni; "Ghosts," "Hedda Gabler," "Rosmersholm," "John Gabriel Borkman" and "The Lady from the Sea" by Ibsen; "The Riot on the 'Scutcheon" by Browning; "The Rights of the Soul," "As the Leaves" and "The Stronger" by Giacosa; "The Inspector" by Gogol; "The Silent System" by Brander Mathews; "The Triumph of Youth" by Pailleron, and many others of equal note. He has staged and appeared in ten pageants written by Thomas Wood Stevens and others by various authors."

These references to Robertson, Stevens and Smith, reveal conclusively the fact that the coming historical pageant at Kaukauna is bound to be of a nature outside the ordinary, something that will truly be worth while witnessing.

Seven episodes will be presented occupying about two hours, all of which will be enacted on a large stage under a wonderful and beautiful flood of electric light. Nature has provided the great amphitheater for the event, on a spot rich in historical lore, at the foot of what is known as Beaulieu Hill, a spot named after Paul H. Beaulieu—one of the early French settlers, who erected and operated the first saw mill in the valley, the site of which is within a stone's throw of the present out-door theater; the stage and stadium has been arranged between the hills bordering Konkapot creek, which latter gets its name from an early Indian chief. A mammoth stage has been erected in natural forest setting on which the dramatic production will be enacted. The electrical department of the city will flood the scenes with 50,000 watts of electrical current from a tower erected especially for the purpose, and from which large lamps of big candle power will throw varied colored lights of red, blue, yellow, green, purple and the other colors of the rainbow for illuminating and beautifying the spectacular scenes. A stadium with a seating capacity of five or six thousand people has been erected just across from the stage and on the opposite side the natural amphitheater, acoustic properties of which are really marvelous as conversation in an ordinary tone of voice can be distinctly heard from stage to stadium. Apparently nothing will be spared in the way of electric illumination for the Electric City owns its electric light plant and is in position to take advantage of such municipal ownership to use practicaly an unlimited amount of electric energy.

The property committee is at present engaged in erecting a representation of Paul Ducharme's first log cabin, the Green Bay stockades, tepees, stone idol and a myriad of things needed for the dramatic presentation. Several hundred costumes for the participants have been ordered from a Chicago theatrical costuming house to be accompanied by a special representative to supervise the costuming and make-ups. Other committees are also busily engaged on the Home Coming end arranging to care for the reception of visitors, housing, meals, auto parking, amusements and the dozen and one things that must be cared for in advance for such a big undertaking. A firm specializing in the work has been engaged to decorate the city elaborately and appropriately and nothing is being left undone which might tend to make Kaukauna's historical pageant and Homecoming one long to be remembered in the Fox river valley.

Donald Robertson, in the role of "The Prophet" in the pageant which will feature Homecoming week at Kaukauna from Aug. 27 to Sept. 1.

MOTHER, UNABLE TO STOP BOAT, SEES HER CHILD DROWN

Widow Of Six Weeks Spends Night On Island After Child Falls In River

Prairie du Chien—Miles from the nearest habitation, in St. Paul slough above Waukon Junction, Herman Kish and his two year old nephew were drowned while his sister-in-law, mother of the dead child, sat helplessly in a motorboat she was unable to manage, stranded on the beach of a little island.

For twenty-four hours the woman remained alone in the boat near the point where the two had disappeared in the water. After a harrowing night vigil on the deserted river, she pushed and paddled the boat to the mainland and reached the shack of a fisherman.

A short time later both bodies were recovered.

Mrs. Kish's husband died only six weeks ago.

On the day of the drowning, she, her little son and her brother-in-law were on their way to a river shanty owned by her late husband to obtain some of his belongings. In some way the child, unguarded for the moment, lost its balance and toppled overboard. Kish plunged into the river in an attempt to save it.

Left alone in the still moving motor boat, Mrs. Kish made vain efforts to stop it. Failing, she beached the boat on an island after running some distance up the slough.

Arriving there she could see no trace of brother-in-law or son.

Both had disappeared in the water.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Busch spent Saturday and Sunday at Milwaukee.

Martin J. Kilsdonk and family of Detroit, Mich., visited the home of Theodore Wydeven today.

Ray Branchford, William Brank and Edward Kroenke spent a few days fishing at Rat lake. They returned with 139 fish.

She knows what's good

Carnation is just pure cows' milk from which about sixty per cent of the natural water content has been removed by evaporation, hermetically sealed and sterilized. Its consistency is that of rich, country cream. To serve for drinking, simply add one and a half to two parts water, to suit the taste. For cooking and baking, you will find Carnation gives a new richness to all your favorite recipes. Order it today. Write for Recipe Book.

RICE PUDDING

2½ cups water, 1½ cups Carnation Milk, ½ cup rice, ½ tsp. salt, 2 tbsp. sugar. Wash rice, mix ingredients, and pour into buttered baking dish. Bake two and one-half hours in a very slow oven, stirring every twenty minutes the first hour of baking to prevent rice from settling.

PAPERMAKERS MEET OSHKOSH INVASION SUNDAY

Indians Sign Hurler To Take Place Of Learn For Appleton Contest

Sylvester Tribe Won Fourth Straight League Contest Sunday Against Kaukauna, Cinching Second Place

SUNDAY'S SCHEDULE
Marinette at Green Bay.
OSHKOSH AT APPLETON.
Kaukauna at Fond du Lac.
Menasha at Sheboygan.

Sylvester's clan won its fourth straight victory Sunday, clinching its hold on second place. In spite of this winning streak, however, it looks as though the Appleton tribe will have to beat the Pails themselves in order to reach the top of the State ladder, as no other team of the league seems to be able to cope successfully with Rush's leaders. That opportunity will be offered a week from Sunday, but in the meantime, the Papermakers are scheduled for a contest with the Indians Sunday at Brandt park.

NEW PITCHER FOR INDIANS

The Oshkosh tribe has been playing in hard luck for some time, but is making a strong effort to come back. In the Indian's contest with the hard hitting Sheboygan club last Sunday, the Tribe played an excellent game although it was beaten, 6 to 4. Pitcher Learn played his last game in the State league on that occasion. Who will replace him is as yet unknown here, but it is rumored that the Papermakers are due for a surprise Sunday when they try to connect with the new moundsman's offerings.

The Papermakers have hit their stride, and the fact that all but one of the men on the lineup are real home-players, contributes more to the interest of the fans than if they were a lot of outsiders. Brilliant fielding and heavy hitting have brought the home team up to its present lofty position, and give it an excellent chance at the pennant.

TENNIS STAR PLAN TO ENTER NET MEET

Three Of Last Year's Stars Signify Intention Of Going After New Honors

Six local tennis stars have announced their intention of entering the intercity net tourney scheduled for next month. They are Heber Pelkey, G. E. Bachelder, Ralph Landis, J. N. Fisher, Ted Xistris, and Jerry Whalon. Three of these men, Pelkey, Fisher, and Xistris, made very creditable showings in last year's meet, and expect to do even better in the coming events. Great interest is being displayed by Appleton net stars in this meet, and it is expected that at least twenty will enter the elimination play which is planned to be held here before the end of the month.

CALIFORNIA NET CHAMPS LOSE IN NATIONAL MATCH

Alonso And Johnson Defeat Kinsey Brothers In First Round Struggle

Brookline, Mass.—All seeded players except Robert and Howard Kinsey, California stars, advanced on Monday in the first round of the national doubles championship tournament being conducted here.

The two teams of the Australian Davis cup team advanced as did the three competing Davis cup players of France.

The Kinsey brothers were put out by Manuel Alonso, Spain and Wallace F. Johnson Philadelphia, in one of the feature matches of the day in which some splendid tennis, chiefly from the Spaniard's racquet, was displayed.

William T. Tilden II, Philadelphia coupled with the spectacular Brian I. C. North, South Africa, beat Philip Neer and James Davies Leland Stanford university combination. 4—6, 6—3, 7—5, 6—3.

The defeat of the Californians was viewed as a startling upset, as the Kinseys rated among the leaders in the doubles in the country. The match was marked by the brilliance of the Spaniard. The Kinseys were outplayed throughout.

FOUR TIED IN TRAP MEET AT CHICAGO

First Event Of National Shoot Shows Excellent Scores For Marksmen

Chicago—Four of the nation's sterling shooters tied for high gun with 155x200 in the 1923 Lake Michigan introductory event in the G. A. H. shoot here at the South Shore Country club on Monday in which 285 contested.

The high honors of the day were divided between two amateurs, W. G. Warren of Chicago and William Lambert of Oklahoma City, and two professionals, F. H. Tomlin of Glassboro, N. J., and Fred Gilbert of Spirit Lake, Ia.

As a result of the tie, Warren and Lambert will hold a shootoff early Tuesday morning for the Walter Peacock trophy. Only amateurs are allowed to receive the Lake Michigan introductory title, so the two pros will have to sit at ease as the amateurs puff targets for the title.

This formal opening of the 1923 grand American handicap tournament was a spectacle worth seeing. Shooting conditions were good although there were several wind puffs which made perfect shooting by the experts of North America impossible.

Mark Aire of Champaign, Ill., who is world's champion until the next Olympic, cracked a 197 to tie Walter Huff, professional from Macon, Ga.

R. A. King, noted doubles king from Wichita Falls, Tex., and who will compete in the doubles championship of North America here on Tuesday to make it three crowns in a row, got a 196, tieing Dr. H. W. Armstrong of El Paso, Tex., and Phil Miller of Dallas, Tex.

BRITISH WOMEN IN LEAD AT NEWPORT

Monday's Play in International Tennis Meet Results In Setback For Americans

Newport, R. I.—England went into a 3-2 lead over the United States in the women's international tennis matches on the courts of the Newport Casino on Monday.

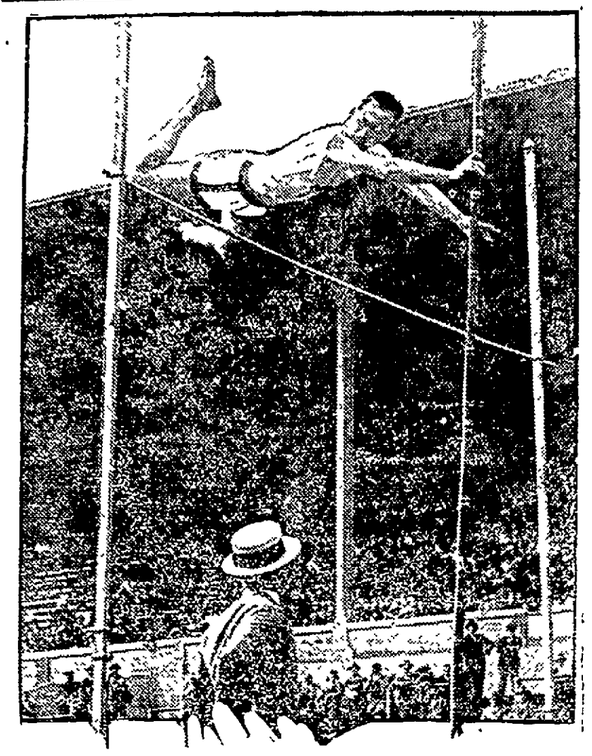

The teams ended the four singles matches of the day, tied at 2-2, but Miss Kathleen McKane and Mrs. F. C. Covell, English pair, who won the American championship at Forest Hills last week, upheld their claim to the title by administering a second defeat to Mrs. George H. Wightman and Miss Eleanor Goss. The American finalists at Forest Hills and victors over the English women in the Wightman cup series, were defeated in straight sets 6—4, 6—4.

In the singles Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, playing an aggressive, hard hitting game defeated Mrs. Geraldine Peacock of England 6—2, 6—1. Miss Goss won from Miss McKane, 7—5, 6—4. Mrs. F. C. Covell overwhelmed Miss Leslie Bancroft of the American team 6—1, 6—0, and Mrs. R. C. Clayton of England won from Miss Lillian Schoyman, 6—3, 2—6, 6—2.

St. Paul—Mike Gibbons, one of the promoters of the Fort Snelling boxing show, declared that the Minnesota boxing commission is trying to "influence" boxers scheduled to appear at the show Aug. 25.

Columbus, O.—K. O. Trable, Toledo, gets the nod over the judge's decision over Eddie Hemmer of Chicago, in a slow 12 round bout.

Another Yank Winner

Here's another athlete from the United States showing the English how things are done over on this side of the water. S. Scholpp of Yale is winning the pole vault in the Oxford-Cambridge and Yale-Harvard events in Wembley Stadium. He's clearing the bar at 12 feet.

Freaks And Fancies Of Black Bass, Most Plentiful Of All Game Fish

BY MORRIS ACKERMAN

Nationally Known Authority and Writer on the Great Out-of-Doors, and Editor of Ackerman's Sportsmen's Guide

FINAL ARTICLE—BASS FIGHTING QUALITIES

It was none other than the famous Dr. James A. Henshall, the father of Black bass propagation in America, who designated that splendid game member of our lakes and streams as "the game" fish of the people.

ACKERMAN

This grand old man, who, by the way, is living his last days amongst the scenes of his boyhood in Cincinnati, O., probably didn't realize, at the time of his now famous designation of this country's mostly sought after fightin' fin, that the black bass ever would be held in such high esteem by so many hundreds of thousands of the nation's anglers.

No game fish is so well distributed in North America as the black bass. You can find him in the lakes of California, in the waters of the parched lands of the Southwest (Roosevelt Dam, for instance), in the icy waters of Maine, in the tepid Florida fluid, in Canada from Nova Scotia to Manitoba. He is lord of fishes in more than a score of states. Truly, he IS the game fish of the multitude.

THEY'RE NOT ALL BLACK

I don't know exactly why this fish is called the "black" bass. There are two kinds—the small mouth and the large-mouth. I have caught a good many of each and seldom indeed have I seen a black one. However, I have seen black ones—as black as night—of both varieties.

The large mouth kind, is the most numerous. It is called "trout" in the south, "green bass" in some places. Its mouth extends beyond the center of the eye. On each side is a lateral stripe, or line.

It is found in still water. It will stand a higher temperature than its small mouth brother and, at times, it will take most any kind of bait you'll serve, from a live frog or minnow to what a noted manufacturer of pork rind baits designates a "battleship plug."

THEY LIVE TO FIGHT

This fish, during the vacation season, lays in wait for its food under lily pads, in the shade of fallen trees, around submerged stumps and along the edge of weed-beds. On bitin' days, the general rule on most early mornings and later afternoons in the summer, a well directed, put-'em-where-they-live cast will turn many of them into your skillet.

The small mouth is the bass family tackle-smasher. You get him in fast water and quiet lakes. In any event the water must be clean and at least medium cold.

The mouth of this fish does not extend beyond the eye. He has no lateral stripe and when taken on light tackle, either on bait or fly rod, is a fighter from strike to sun-stroke. It was the small mouth black bass that made the famous "inch for inch and pound for pound the gamest fish that swims" slogan.

Its predominating natural food is a minnow, crayfish or frog. Personally I haven't used any live bait in my bass fishing for ... years, but, of course, that doesn't matter.

Either variety of black bass caught on a light bamboo rod, an eight or nine pound test line and a sporty single hook lure will keep a man from becoming conscious-stricken.

Try it some time.

Strikeout Record Of Johnson Hard To Beat

By BILLY EVANS

Walter Johnson, famous pitcher of the Washington American League club, recently passed the 3000 mark in the matter of strikeouts.

That is a remarkable pitching record. Unquestionably it will stand for a long time, perhaps forever.

A few weeks back in a game with the Cleveland club, runners reached second and third with no one out. The score at the time was 2 to 1 in favor of Washington. A base hit would put the Cleveland club out in front.

Then to the consternation of the Cleveland fans, Johnson proceeded to strike the next two batters out on seven pitched balls and caused the following batter to send a harmless fly to left field. Johnson had pitched himself out of the hole.

Back ten years ago that was not an unusual feat for Johnson. It was an every-day performance. I can recall a number of games in which I have seen him strike out the side with the bases filled. That was in the old days when speed was a pitcher's greatest asset, when the ball was far less live in them" is today.

HE'S MODEST FELLOW

Talking with Johnson after the Cleveland game, I remarked to him that he must have been right on edge. His reply was characteristic of the modesty of the great pitcher.

"I was lucky," he replied. "A fellow must be lucky to throw his fast ball by the batters these days. I realized I had good speed and depended entirely on my fast one. That is a dangerous system with the lively ball. A batter doesn't have to meet the ball very good these days to make it travel."

The conversation then drifted to the strikeout topic, for in that game Johnson had passed the 3000 mark. It is a rather remarkable fact that Johnson really never tried to set any strikeout records, despite the fact that he holds most of them in the majors. His whirling feats can simply be traced to the remarkable ability he possesses, in which his fast ball is his best asset.

RAPS LIVELY BALL

"Strikeouts have become more or less a secondary matter in baseball," remarked Johnson. "The modern pitcher who tries to strike 'em out is making a grave mistake. The lively ball has taken much of the punch out of the strikeout. The wise pitcher is the fellow who mixes them up, makes the opposition hit the ball, and never forgets that eight other fellows are out there to help him retire the side."

GREEN BAY GOLFERS TAKE LOW SCORES IN PRO-AMATEUR MATCH

Fox River Country Club Players Cop Honors At Oshkosh Three Under Par

Oshkosh—Bim Lovekin and Frank Kerwin, professional and amateur respectively, representing the Fox River Country club, Green Bay, won the eighteen hole, best ball, pro-amateur event with a card of 71 in the annual state professional golf tournament which opened at the Oshkosh Country club on Sunday. The team went out in 36 and returned in 35, three strokes under par.

Neil McIntyre, professional, and Harold Wyatt, amateur of the Town and Country club, Fond du Lac, and Jimmy Kaye, tutor at the Blue Mound Country club and his partner, the veteran, Harry Hadfield, finished in a tie for second place with a score of 73.

Tom Rose, pro at the Oshkosh Country club, and Billy Sixty were third with 74, and Bill Robertson, pro at the Ozaukee Country club and Louis Ehlert, finished fourth with 77.

Neil McIntyre of Fond du Lac turned in the best individual card when he scored 73. The mark ties the course record.

Lovekin, winner of the state title at Oconomowoc last year, defended his title Monday in 36 holes of medal play. Eighteen holes were planned for morning and afternoon.

JACK, DOWN TO 195 POUNDS, PUTS IN HARD DAY MONDAY

White Sulphur Springs, N. Y.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, on Monday put in one of the hardest days of training since he pitched camp here several weeks ago in preparation for the September bout with Luis Angel Firpo at New York City.

Down to 195 pounds, the champion peeled off eight miles of mountain roads as his morning bracer and then devoted two rounds apiece to the light and heavy punching bags.

Monday afternoon he boxed two rounds each with George Godfrey and Jack Burke, and concluded the day's work with two rounds against Elzear Rioux, French-Canadian lumberjack, who simulates the Firpo type of fighter.

Johnny Dundee Ready To Try For New Title

New York—Johnny Dundee's great chance is here.

The lightweight championship is dangling temptingly before his eyes.

And the veteran Johnny, cheeks flushed with recent victory, is reaching out for it.

His victory over Eugene Criqui, world featherweight champion, after a dozen years of ups and downs, has goaded him on into new fields.

MEETS LEONARD SEPT. 5

Now he's ready to meet Benny Leonard, recognized ruler of the lightweight division.

They'll step into the ring at Yankee Stadium here Sept. 5.

Johnny's friends are skeptical. Some fear he will meet the same fate Johnny Kilbane, fallen featherweight idol, did at Leonard's hands. Others believe he has an excellent chance to dethrone Leonard.

Back in 1917, Kilbane having no rivals for his crown, elected to mix things with the lightweight champion. Johnny was knocked out in three rounds, the first time in his career.

Kilbane had previously met Leonard before he had acquired the lightweight title and had no trouble outboxing him. The featherweight champ felt that a go with Leonard would be soft money—a mere waltz.

FAR FROM STRANGERS

The Leonard-Dundee bout is nothing new in the fistic world. The two champs are far from strangers. On no less than eight occasions have they met in no decision affairs. But the most strenuous thing they did was count the receipts.

The ninth clash between the two may be for blood. Now that Dundee is a champ he will seek, no doubt, to live up to the title. Johnny has always believed that he could beat Leonard. The coming meeting will be to a decision. It will be the big opportunity for Dundee.

Should Dundee get the decision it would make him the lightweight as well as the featherweight champion and incidentally the greatest drawing card in the fight game. Dundee is certain to be well under the lightweight limit.

LEONARD'S TITLE IN DANGER

To get the decision or win by a knockout adds nothing to Leonard's fight record, since he will scale well over the feather limit. The bout will be one in which Leonard can lose a title but win nothing other than filthy lucre.

There are some experts who do not look on the bout with much favor, since the pair have met so often. They don't believe the public will fall for it very strong.

In the previous meetings, Dundee was simply a featherweight going out of his class. Dundee is now a champion. Bouts between champions always carry a certain appeal to the public. Incidentally, Dundee always gives the public a run for its money.

PLATTEVILLE HAS GOOD FOUNDATION FOR GRID SQUADS

Mentor's College Has Schedule Of Seven Contests For Coming Season

By Associated Press

Platteville—Eight letter men, including Clifford Dennis, captain elect and one of the best centers on the Wisconsin Normal school conference last year, will form the backbone of the 1923 football squad, Orton Keyes, athletic director of the institution said in announcing the season's schedule.

Seven games will be played this season. The schedule follows:

Sept. 29—Mount Morris college at Platteville.
Oct. 6—Stevens Point Normal at Stevens Point.
Oct. 11—Milton college at Platteville.
Oct. 19—Open.
Oct. 27—River Falls Normal at River Falls.
Nov. 3—Oshkosh Normal at Oshkosh.
Nov. 9—Wisconsin School of Mines at Platteville.
Nov. 16—LaCrosse Normal at Platteville.

San Antonio—Kid Pancho, San Antonio flyweight won by a technical knockout over Gene LaRue, Canadian flyweight champion, in the third round of their scheduled 12 round bout.

Chicago—Johnny Myers, middleweight wrestling champion, defeated Joe Carr of Minneapolis in two straight falls.

FOND DU LAC PRO WINS STATE GOLF CROWN WITH 151

Robertson Second With 158, And Bim Lovekin, Former Champ, Third With 159

Oshkosh — Neil McIntyre, professional golfer at the Town and Country club at Fond du Lac, won the the annual tournament of the Wisconsin professional golfers' association at the Oshkosh Country club on Monday when he turned the thirty-six holes in 151 strokes.

McIntyre won the title by virtue of a great uphill fight in the afternoon round of eighteen holes when he established a new record of seventy-one for the local course. The Fond du Lac pro after scoring eighty in the morning round, went out in thirty-four on the first nine in the afternoon, and returned in thirty-seven. Par on the course is seventy-four.

The former course record of seventy-three was established two years ago by Bob Gardner of Chicago.

In his afternoon round, McIntyre played phenomenal golf, making all holes in par or better.

William Robertson, professional at the Ozaukee Country club, finished second in the state title event with a card of 158. Robertson turned in a card of eighty-two for his morning round, but improved his game in the afternoon and scored seventy-six, two strokes above par.

Bim Lovekin of Green Bay, defending champion, finished third with a card of 159. Lovekin shot consistent golf on both rounds, turning the eighteen holes in the morning in seventy-nine, and the eighteen holes in the afternoon in eighty.

J. M. Hunter of the Milwaukee Country club, led the field at the close of the first eighteen holes with a card of seventy-eight. He scored forty-one and thirty-seven.

M. A. Carroll of Oshkosh won the amateur event followed by I. S. Macnicol of Oshkosh and Reginald Scully of Milwaukee in second and third places respectively.

GIANTS LOSE 8TH GAME IN TWELVE, TO PITTSBURG, 3-1

New York Americans Swamp Sox, 16 To 5, With Storm Of Hits

Chicago—Jughandle Johnny Morrison threw the New York Nationals to defeat Monday and won the second game of the present critical series for Pittsburg, 3 to 1. He struck out five of the world's champions and allowed six hits. This is the eighth game the Giants have lost in the last dozen and the Cincinnati Reds are beginning to wear the expression reserved for league champions.

The Giant pitchers were bad, the hitters were worse, having scored only five runs in the last three games.

The New York Americans swamped the White Sox in Chicago, pounding out sixteen hits for twenty eight bases and winning, 16 to 5. The New York team started right off with a loud noise in the first inning, turning four hits, including a homer by Ward, into four runs. They hit so hard and so often that the fans yawned every time the ball sailed. Even baseball fans can be gorged.

Bunched hitting by the Boston Nationals enabled them to win in Detroit 6 to 2. Piercy held the home team to four hits, which were scattered. Burns made a homer for the winners.

Washington Americans won in St. Louis, 7 to 2, in a lop-sided game. The Senators took three runs in the second inning and four in the fourth while Mitchell held the St. Louis team to only five hits.

The Cincinnati Nationals easily won two games in Philadelphia, 6 to 3, and 8 to 3, and are now only four and a half games behind the Giants. Cy Williams hit his thirteenth homer of the season in the second, scoring Sand ahead of him.

The Chicago Nationals hit Grimes around the lot in Brooklyn, winning with ease, 10 to 4. Grimes' collapse came after a record of twenty-four scoreless innings.

The St. Louis Nationals were beaten in Boston, 5 to 2. Marquard pitching a fine game of ball and allowing only seven scattered hits.

Washington made 22 assists, Peckinpaugh accepting fifteen of them at short, in Washington's easy victory over St. Louis. It made a total of 43 assists for the Senators in two days.

Manager Austin of the St. Louis Americans was banished from the game by Umpire Evans for objecting strike and ball decisions in the fourth inning. The men on the bench "booed" the umpire and all except the regulars and three substitutes were ordered out of the dugout.

Southworth's double and triples by Nixon and McInnis sent Fred Toney down to defeat and was given great support by Nixon, who made a running catch of Stock's long fly. He also made several plays which brought the fans to their feet.

Strong pitching by Johnny Morrison enabled Pittsburg to get an even break with the world's champions when they defeated New York in the second half of the series. Three infield double plays were a great help in holding the Giants down.

SPORT VIEWS AND NEWS

Next Sunday afternoon, the Papermakers will have an excellent opportunity of taking the lead in the Wisconsin state league. Oshkosh, which now rests in seventh place, will be the enemy. On the same afternoon the league leading Menasha Pulls will stack up against the Sheboygan Chairs at Sheboygan.

The Papermakers have been playing bang-up ball for the last two months. They have forged their way from a position near the bottom of the heap to within striking distance of the top. They are getting good pitching, their fielding is snappy and best of all they are hitting the ball. The Papermakers have been playing as good or better ball than any team in the league.

Another interesting thing is the fact that the team is made up almost entirely of home players. With the exception of Lathrop, every one of the regulars lives in the Fox river valley. The team includes a number of youngsters who are playing their first season in fast company. These youngsters are fighters, peppy and fast, who give the fans their money's worth any time.

A team like this is deserving of much better support than it has been receiving. The club owners, Walter Miller and Harry Sylvester, are not trying to make money out of baseball but they would like to break even. They won't even do that unless they can draw better support than they have been receiving. The crowds have been mighty disappointing, considering the class of baseball that is played.

• • •

Next Sunday will be an opportunity for Appleton fans to show if they appreciate the type of baseball that is being offered to them. Oshkosh always gives Appleton a great game. Rivalry between the cities is keen and it is reflected in their baseball teams. If the crowd next Sunday is not an improvement over the attendance at previous games it will be an indication that fans here don't care much for baseball.

KITCHEN EQUIPMENT

Keep your kitchen equipment in shape. Worn-out tools and an insufficient supply of utensils make housework much harder than it need be.

CARPET CLEANING

After a thorough sweeping it is well to dust a carpet with a cloth wrung very dry out of clean water, or water to which a little ammonia has been added.

N. E. BROKAW WINS SECOND ROUND OF GOLF CUP MATCH

Three Players Tied For First Place As Result Of Saturday's Play

N. E. Brokaw won the second match of the Director's cup tourney at Riverview Country club, with a low net score of 68, Saturday. Thirty-four golfers played in the first match a week ago, in which S. H. Clinedinst was low man with a net score of 71, and the fourteen low men of that match continued their play Saturday. The scores are:

	Gross	Hdp.	Net	First Match
H. A. Smith	105	26	79	79
A. C. Gilbert	108	23	85	82
C. S. Dickinson	85	7	78	72
S. H. Clinedinst	91	12	79	71
R. S. Powell	100	23	77	80
Dr. G. M. Pratt	89	12	77	79
F. J. Sensenbrenner	102	21	81	78
Wm. VanNortwick	115	24	91	84
J. D. Steele	103	22	81	77
Wm. Roemer	114	24	90	80
D. W. Bergstrom, Jr.	94	17	77	75
F. J. Edmonds	87	9	78	73
O. C. Smith	104	19	85	73
N. E. Brokaw	87	19	68	82

C. S. Dickinson, S. H. Clinedinst and N. E. Brokaw are tied for low score with a total of 150 each for both matches. The lowest score after the three scheduled matches have been played entitles the player making it to the permanent possession of the cup put up by the club directors.

Puzzling Plays
By Billy Evans

THE PLAY

What constitutes a force play?

The following rather simple play, which is constantly coming up, causes many disputes:

Runners are on second and third and two men out. The runner on second leads off too far and is caught napping by a snap throw from the catcher. The runner on third dashes for the plate.

The ball is thrown to the catcher, heading off the runner bound for the plate. The result is both runners are finally on third base. The catcher, rushing down to third base, touches the runner originally on that base with the ball. He then tosses the ball into the diamond. The two runners then dash for the plate, and cross it in safety, since no one was covering the catcher being on his way to the bench, believing the side has been retired. This play came up in an American League game several years ago.

What about it?

THE INTERPRETATION

Both runs counted.

The catcher, under the impression that the runner on third was forced, when the runner came up from second, touched him with the ball for what he believed was the third out. He should have touched the runner who came up from second and was also standing on the bag.

A base always belongs to the original occupant unless forced to vacate it. This was no force play, as the runner who had come up from second had the right to return to that base if he could. No force play can result in baseball, except that it begins by the batter becoming a base runner.

DICKINSON, BOWEN THIRD IN PRO GOLF

Milwaukee Man Makes Low Score In Oshkosh Professional Golfer's Meet

Oshkosh—J. M. Hunter of Milwaukee made the low score in the Wisconsin Professional Golfers' association Monday morning at the Oshkosh Country club with 78. His score was 41 out and 37 in. Thirty seven is par for the course. Bim Lovekin of Green Bay was second with 79.

Giehler of Kenosha, G. Bowen of Appleton, and Kenneth Dickinson of Appleton, turned in cards of 80. In the 81 class were Jim Rose of Milwaukee and John Andersen of Racine. Billy Sixty made it in 82. William Robertson also made it in 82.

CHICAGO CHEESE MARKET

Chicago—In some quarters of the cheese market here Monday buyers evidently were anticipating probable advances and bought somewhat ahead of requirements while others confined their purchases to actual needs. On the whole a fair volume of business was reported. Nevertheless, the market appeared unsettled and although most of the trade would like to see no higher prices, reports of conditions in the country indicate probable advances.

Descent Of Property By Inheritance Carefully Guarded By Law

Judge Bottensek Of County Court Explains Procedure Of Settling Estates--Decries Indifference Of Heirs

The self-sacrifice of widows and abandoned mothers to pay their husband's debts is a constant object of observation in the county court, according to Judge John Bottensek.

Frequently widows are formed to have paid a great share of their husband's doctor bills and other debts out of the insurance left her through a lodge or insurance company.

"Insurance is not a part of the husband's estate, but is the wife's inalienable property," Judge Bottensek declared.

The ever increasing demand for mothers pensions by widows, divorced and abandoned mothers is not a sign of increasing poverty, but the result of a greater acquaintance with the provisions of the law governing dependent children, the judge believes.

As long as persons are dying intestate or leaving hardly a cent of property, there will always be re-enacted the dramas that are now occuring in county court.

JUDGE TELLS HOW

Unfamiliarity with probate court procedure is a common source of difficulty for executors, administrators, heirs and legatees. To clear up misunderstandings on the subject, the following interview was obtained from the county judge.

"Upon the death of a person having property, real or personal, or both," Judge Bottensek began, "his family or immediate relatives are first to inquire whether the person left a last will and testament. Such is sometimes left with the county judge for safekeeping.

"Inquiry should therefore be made at the county judge's office or at some other place at which it is probable that the decedent may have left his will.

"In most cases, whether the will is found or not, it is well for the widow, if there be one, or other near relatives, soon after the funeral and in some cases before the interment to go to the county judge's office for advice.

"If the amount of property left by the decedent is less than $1,000, the county judge may be required, in case no contest is probable, to draw the necessary papers for the administration of the estate without charge or compensation except the necessary disbursements for printers and the appraisement, which are paid out of the estate.

SEE AN ATTORNEY

"If the amount exceeds $1,000 then the county judge has no authority, but is rather prohibited from drawing papers and giving advice to persons interested. The widow or other persons interested in the estate as heirs at law or legatees should consult some responsible attorney and put the matter into his hands to be attended to for them.

"Whether an attorney is employed, there must be filed with the county judge a petition by the person named in the will as executor, if there be a will, or by some heir or legatee asking for probate of the will, if there be one, or for the appointment of an administrator of the estate.

"The county court then makes an order fixing the date when and the place where the proof of the will, the fact of the testator's death, the names of the heirs, legatees and their places of residence will be considered by the court.

CREDITORS FILE CLAIMS

"Usually at the same time and by the same order the court fixes the time, which cannot be less than four months from the date of the order, within which the creditors must file claims against the estate of the decedent, or be barred from recovering thereafter on any such claim or demand.

"It also fixes the date when the court will hear proof of claims, whether the will is contested. On such proof, the court makes judgment on what claims are to be allowed and the amount of them."

As a rule, the executors and administrators should not pay any debts of the decedent until they are allowed by the court, the judge advised. On the date and at the place fixed to hear the petition for the proof of will or petition for the appointment of an administrator, it is advisable that as many heirs and legatees as can do so be present in the court with their attorney. The time fixed for the hearing of the petition for proof of will or for the appointment of an administrator is usually on a Tuesday, and in the county court of Outagamie co it is either the first or third Tuesday of each calendar month.

In case that there is no will, an administrator is appointed by the court and is required to give bonds according to the provisions of the statutes in such sum and with such bondsmen or sureties as the court may determine.

"Upon filing of such bond by the administrator of the estate," Judge Bottensek continued, "letters of administration, written as evidence of his authority to act, are issued and delivered to him.

"In case of wills, on the date of the hearing set or as soon thereafter as may be determined, the will must be proved by at least one witness to the will, if there be no contest. Such witness must be one of the witnesses who submitted his name to the will as attesting witness. If there is a contest on the will, two at least and more witnesses may be required to establish it.

"If the will is admitted to probate and the executor's bondsmen are not waived, as may be done in the judgment of the testator, the court fixes the amount of the bond which the executor must give to the court for faithful discharge of his duty as executor.

MUST FILE REPORTS

"Such bond must have at least one bondsman or surety. Upon the approval of the bond by the court, the executor is authorized to act, and letters testamentary are issued to him, named from giving a bond, he is immediately appointed by the court and authorized to act without bonds.

"Every executor and administrator is required by law to file with the county court within 90 days after the appointment an inventory of the real and personal property of the decedent. Such inventory shall be a full, complete, itemized, detailed statement of the estate of the decedent, giving full and accurate description of each separate tract of land or real estate.

"Property so listed must be appraised by at least two appraisers appointed by the court to determine the value in money of every separate tract of land or piece of personal property. The homestead should be separately described and separately appraised."

Referring to the preferring of claims against an estate, the judge said: "Before the date set for hearing of claims against an estate, the heirs or legatees or others interested ought to examine the claims filed and determine whether they are proper claims. On the date set for the hearing, the court hears proof and allows or disallows claims filed, as may be advised.

"When the amount of claims has been determined, the executor or administrator should pay the same, if he has the money belonging to the estate. If he has not, it may be necessary to convert securities by selling them or by selling other personal property and in some cases by sale of real estate. It may also become necessary to sell personal property or real estate in order to secure the money with which to pay the legacees or specific bequests.

"The executor or administrator has authority without special order of the court to sell personal property. When in the interests of the estate or to obtain ready funds to pay the expenses of administration, the debts allowed against the estate, and in case of wills to pay legacees,—usually, however, when the executor or administrator applies to the court on a verified petition setting forth the facts necessary to sell property, an order may be made directing the administrator or executor to sell the personal property described.

REMOVES CRITICISM

"Such application is made to the court not because it is necessary to have such an order, but that the responsibility for the sale and the criticism of the family may be transferred from the administrator or executor to the judge of the county court who is presumed to be capable of bearing extraordinary burdens or to be immune from pains of criticism.

"In case it is necessary to sell real estate for purposes described, a petition must be presented to the court showing necessity for such sale.

"The court thereupon fixes the time when petition is to be heard, which is usually four weeks from the date of application, and direct notice of the time and place of hearing such petition is to be given by publication in some newspaper of the county. It is also sometimes required by the court, though by statute, that personal notice be given or mailed to every heir or legatee. The court at the time of hearing makes an order authorizing the administrator or executor to sell the lands at public sale to the highest bidder and not less than the appraised price.

GIVE ANOTHER BOND

"The administrator or executor is also required to give the court a bond with one or more sureties and for the amount as the court may determine for accounting to the court all money that may be received on such sale. It is also necessary that the administrator or executor take oath that he will discharge his duties in respect to such sale according to law.

"Having been authorized to sell the real estate described, the administrator or executor must advertise the proposed sale by notice published in a newspaper in the county, and also to post copies of notices in the ward of the city, or village, or town wherein the land is located. If the highest bid at the sale is not equal to or in excess of the appraisal, the administrator postpones the sale and may sell the property at any time within one year at private sale.

"The administrator or executor, having paid the debts, expenses of administration, or having the money to pay them, and the legacees remaining unpaid, he is required to present to the court a final account showing all receipts of the property, including money, by him and all disbursements made by him and the amount of personal property in his hands on the basis of the appraisal made by the appraisers.

"With the final account he files a petition asking for the allowance of his account and assignment or transfer of the residue of the estate to the heirs at law or legatees. Thereupon the court by written order fixes the time for the hearing of the petition for and examination of the final account and orders the publication of such hearing in a newspaper of the county.

"In Outagamie-co the court also requires that notice be mailed by the administrator or executor to every heir and legatee at least 20 days before the hearing. The reason for this is that the majority of the heirs and legatees, if they are not residents of the county in which the court is held, do not read the notices published in the paper.

SCRUTINIZE REPORT

"On the date fixed for the hearing the judge closely examines the final account and satisfies himself that the administrator or executor has faithfully accounted for all property which has come into his control, that he has paid all debts allowed, that he has faithfully administered the estate and is ready to turn over the residue to such persons as may be entitled thereto. All persons interested in the settlement of the estate and the distribution of the personal property ought to be present at that hearing so as to protect their own interests and receive their shares. In fact, however, very few heirs or legatees are present at such hearing. A great majority of heirs and frequently also legatees appear to be entirely indifferent to the whole proceeding and pay but little attention to the administration of the estate by the administrator or executor."

One thing for which the courts will hold the administrator responsible is the paying of inheritance taxes. This is paid out of the share received by each heir or legatee when the inheritance or legacy is over a specified amount. The exemption for a widow is $15,000, that for the sons and daughters $2,000 each. The tax rate on money in excess of these amounts is 2 per cent.

Legatees distantly related to the testator must pay 8 per cent on the excess, and the exemption for them is only $100. Where the amount is $25,000 to $50,000, the rate is doubled on the excess over $25,000; when from $50,000 to $100,000, the rate is trebled; when $100,000 to $500,000, the rate is quadrupled; when the amount is over $500,000, the rate is five times the original rate on the excess over $500,000.

The county court determines the amount of tax to be paid on notice first given by the administrator or executor to the tax commission or to the public administrator of the county, who in this county is Joseph Koffend, Jr. It is the duty of the administrator to see that the tax is paid the county treasurer who forwards the state's share to Madison. A minor inheritance tax is also levied by the United States government and collected by a revenue officer.

STATE MAY GET ESTATE

Estates are sometimes placed in trust by order of the testator and are administered by trustees. Where the decedent has no heirs and makes no will, whatever is left after the expense of administration is paid, goes to the state of Wisconsin.

Referring to the matter of guardianships, Judge Bottensek said: "Every person under the age of 21, who has real or personal property, requiring care and management may have a guardian appointed by the county court to have charge of the administration of the estate.

"It sometimes happens that persons under 21 have neither father or mother to control him in his personal conduct. A guardian may then be appointed of his person as well as his estate. In that case a minor owes to the guardian the same duty of obedience as to his parents. When the minor is over 14, he may nominate his own guardian and unless the court is persuaded that such person ought not be appointed, the person is appointed.

"Guardians must file with the court a bond with one or more sureties. He is also required to file annual reports or accounts between Jan. 1 and Mar. 1 of each year for the preceding calendar year. He is held responsible for the care of the property, investments made and expenditures incurred, and must account in detail for them in his annual report.

"The same responsibility and account is required of trustees of estates. But guardians and trustees are required not only to make annual reports but to make reports whenever the court calls for them."

KOCH AGAIN IS FIRST TO GET HUNT LICENSE

The first hunting licenses for the coming season were issued Tuesday by John E. Hantschel, county clerk. A. G. Koch, register of deeds, was as usual the first to apply. He has held that distinction practically as long as he has been in the courthouse. Those that bowed in preference to him were Chief R. H. McCarthy of the Kaukauna police department, George Walter, George Walter, Jr., and William M. Drexler of Appleton, who also took out licenses.

U. S. DELIBERATES OBREGON PROMISE

tegration and thus gain nothing for American property owners anyhow.

Recognition would seem to be a natural alternative, and although the United States has not obtained in technical form what was sought in the beginning, the important fact is that the Obregon government has proclaimed an interpretation of the constitution which is apparently satisfactory to the American commissioners who went to Mexico City with a full knowledge of what Secretary Hughes wanted in the way of legal assurances.

It is true the Mexican embassy issued the other day an official statement authorized by President Obregon which stated that Mexico had not assumed any obligation under the agreements reached between the Mexican and American commissioners but the word "obligation" is unquestionably a term for public consumption in Mexico, and the minutes of the proceedings carry their own interpretation of what constitutes a promise or an obligation.

Steady Work; Good Pay for Your Idle Money

Seven dollars a year — paid $1.75 every three months—is good wages for a hundred dollar bill, when it has a permanent job.

If you have $100, or several hundred dollars, that are not earning as good wages as that, in steady, permanent employment, you are losing money. Because you can get that wage rate for every idle dollar from the day you invest in our preferred shares.

If you have less than $100—any sum from $5 up—you can make it earn 7% wages, in a steady, permanent job, by using it to make a first payment on one or more of our 7% preferred shares, now on sale, at $100 each.

We are selling 7% cumulative preferred shares of Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co., with the State's approval, to get money for income-producing additions to our public service properties. The business needs several million dollars yearly of new capital for growth. We get most of it here at home. Each year a larger portion of the profits of the business is paid out, in interest and dividends, to home investors.

Milwaukee Electric is the largest, strongest, fastest growing public service company in Wisconsin, permanent and prosperous. It has paid preferred share dividends every three months for the last twenty-three years; common share dividends averaging 8% every year for the last twenty-one years.

Come in and talk it over with us, or telephone 1005 and let us send a salesman. Circular with full details mailed on request. Mail orders filled promptly by registered letter.

ONE CONVICTED, TWO ARE FREED OF THEFT CHARGE

Two of a trio of Kaukauna young men who were arraigned in municipal court Tuesday morning on charges of stealing an automobile robe at Rainbow Garden from Vincent Jones were discharged by Judge A. M. Spencer.

Arthur Roberts and "Fuz" Canham pleaded not guilty to the charge and the complaint against them was dismissed for lack of evidence. Otto Warnecke, the third person, was found guilty, however, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $5 plus costs of $5.30. The party was taken before the court by R. H. McCarthy, chief of police at Kaukauna.

ARREST SUSPECT FOR THEFT OF CAR HERE LAST SPRING

Similarity Of Handwriting Leads To Apprehension Of Luxemburg Man

As a result of the trip Detective John Duval made to Green Bay last week to identify Floyd Hardecker's recovered Ford coupe that was stolen last October, the officer assisted in the arrest of a man who is charged with stealing a Ford coupe from the August Jahnke garage on the day before Memorial day this year.

William J. Seymour, alias John Morton, is now being held here charged with that offense. His preliminary examination in municipal court Wednesday morning is expected to reveal whether he is the man who rented a Ford coupe from August Jahnke on May 29 and failed to bring it back.

When Detective Duval was in Green Bay he thought he recognized a similarity in handwriting. Seymour was traced to Luxemberg and brought from there to Appleton. He pleaded not guilty in municipal court. Judge A. M. Spencer fixed the amount of his bail at $1,000, but as Seymour was unable to furnish bail, he is being held in the county jail until Wednesday.

Consider Licenses

COMPLETE NEW STEEPLE ON ST. MARY CHURCH

Appleton Construction company has just completed the new steeple on St. Mary church which replaces the one blown down by a storm several months ago and is removing the staging. The other steeple has been strengthened without the necessity of erecting a scaffold. It is to be painted to harmonize with the new one.

One Grocer At Meeting

H. Rademacher is the only Appleton grocer who is attending the annual state convention of Wisconsin Retail Grocers association at Green Bay. Several members of the local organization are away on their vacations or find it impossible to leave their stores, while others are attending the fair at Seymour. The convention opened Monday and closes Tuesday.

Everything You Want in an Iron

What do you want in an iron? An even heat clear to the tip, to insure beautiful results? A big ironing surface without extra weight, to shorten ironing time? Bevelled edges at the base to eliminate the need for bending over to see the work? A comfortable handle to ease the forearm and the grip? Of course you want all those things, and we don't know of any iron that provides them all but the beautiful Westinghouse Iron.
